Washington—Something more than the technical question of what the size shall be of the two most powerful navies of the world is the reason for Premier MacDonald's visit to the United States. Not since President Wilson paid a visit to Great Britain has there been a return call from the political head of the British nation. And for the first time in modern history a British premier can visit the United States without having thrust at him the disturbing aspects of an Irish question.

It is true that the fact that Premier MacDonald does not represent aristocracy, but the British common people, has made his visit all the more welcome and has made it possible for the American government to exhibit an enthusiasm far beyond the formalities of the occasion.

The dream of English speaking statesmen, that some day Great Britain would be closely bound to other by an alliance has not come true and probably never will, but in its place there is being forged an understanding which transcends the limits of treaties or written agreements. This is the true significance of the MacDonald visit. It is to produce an atmosphere which will make it possible for both countries to banish the thought of competitive armament and to enable them to assume a leadership in world affairs, making for world peace.

NEEDS U. S. HELP
Ever since the United States declined to accept membership in the League of Nations, Great Britain has played the role of mediator in European and at times, has missed the helping hand of American diplomacy.

It is in the period of the war, that so much toward consolidating the position of the allies and since the war has been so important in reconciling the German and French position on the one hand and the Italian-French rivalries beside.

If Premier MacDonald and President Hoover can pave the way for a better atmosphere in which Ambassador Davies at London and Sir E. Howard at Washington can work with absolute frankness, the whole world political situation may be vitally affected. The sight of the two most powerful naval fleets in the world, combined theoretically to maintain peace has always been visualized by continental publicists as the strongest possible bulwark in the peace movement, but such a coalition has never seemed possible from the American viewpoint and was in itself only an extraordinary development of war emergency.

Since the war the navy and the technical men in both countries have spent their time discussing theoretical rivalry in combat. It was Premier MacDonald who insisted that the British navy would never prepare for a theoretical war against the United States.

PARTY FIGHT NEXT WEEK ON TARIFF RATES

Regulars Hope to Break Fusion of Democrats and G. O. P. Independents

Washington—(AP)—The senate today looked forward to the beginning next week of its long tariff rate contest over a small stack of administrative and special amendments still awaiting action.

Beyond the few minor proposals before them today, the senators saw the way opening toward a closing or widening of the greatest breach in Republican ranks the chamber has experienced in years.

Republican regulars hoped for a dissolution of the victorious group of Democrats and Independent Republicans that beat them in their effort to continue the flexible tariff endorsed by President Hoover.

Democrats were inclined to belittle majority predictions that the thrice-tested coalition—twice victorious in the export duty farm relief contest—would break under the weight of conflicting interests in many of the numerous industrial rate proposals.

NO SATURDAY RECESS
The customary Saturday recess was discarded today for a special three-hour session intended to clear the amendments given right of way ahead of the rate schedules.

Possibility of delay in starting the debate on the 'imposts' themselves seemed lessened by the attitude of Democratic leaders toward the desire of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, to move for limitation of revision to farm products as soon as the rate schedules are reached.

Democratic and Republican Independent leaders felt that his resolution, similar in intent to that of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, which was defeated before the senate recess by only one vote, could not marshal such strong support.

Stocks Rebound After 2 Day Decline

Reforestation Plans Are Discussed At State Meet

Nekoosa—(AP)—In a setting of virgin timber, delegates from the three Great Lakes states yesterday heard speakers outline the progress made in restoring land denuded of their stands of pine, and tell of plans for the future.

Attending the closing session of a conference sponsored by the University of Wisconsin, the Lake States Forest experiment station and the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper company, representatives of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan were told of the work done by the federal and Wisconsin governments.

Then they went to the Nepco Lake nurseries and saw demonstrations of tree-planting, transplanting and growth of fire prevention methods, bringing to a close the two-day "forest field day."

Governor Kohler was an interested visitor at the meeting.

On the pine-clad island in Nepco lake, which is the home of J. E. Alexander, Nekoosa lumberman, the 30 lumber and paper experts were told by C. L. Harrington, state forester, that the new state mill tax for purchase of land for reforesting marked a great forward step, enabling the work of restoration to be speeded up.

Where before only 300 to 800 acres of land a year were purchased, now it will be possible to buy up to 3,000 in the same period, he said. It is estimated the tax will bring in approximately $200,000.

F. W. Tinker, federal district forester whose headquarters are at Milwaukee, advocated an increase in government appropriations for the purchase of potential or actual forest land. The government, he said, recognizes the value of recreational areas. It has appropriated money to allow replanting of 13,000 acres yearly in the three lake states where it is planned to purchase 2,500,000 acres of land. It will take, however, nearly 100 years at this rate to reforest the denuded areas, he said.

LARGE GAINS RECORDED BY MANY ISSUES

Dealers See End of Month's Decline—Bears Cover Their Commitments

New York—(AP)—Stock prices rebounded in impressive fashion on the New York stock and curb and other leading security exchanges, today from the low levels reached in the drastic declines of the past two days.

Many traders were inclined to the belief that the decline which has been in progress for the past month had culminated in the flood of selling yesterday, and those who had taken short positions hurried to cover their commitments. Trading was again in huge volume. The stock exchange ticker ran for nearly an hour after the closing gong.

Commercial Solvents, which broke 70 a share on Thursday, soared $50. Tobacco shares developed spectacular buoyancy on announcement that three leading manufacturers had increased cigarette prices by 40 cents per thousand. American Tobacco "B" stock ran up nearly $40 a share, the "A" stock more than $30, and Liggett and Myers issues about $16.

MAJORITY JUMP
Columbian, Carbon, Simmons, Standard Gas, General Electric, American and Foreign Power and Detroit Edison gained $10 to $20. Steel, Radio, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Anaconda, American Can, and Johns Manville were among shares rising about $5 to $9 a share.

The sharp break on heavy volume yesterday, which many traders had been waiting for to end the current decline, apparently had sufficiently corrected the market's weakened technical position to encourage buying operations on a broad scale. Some banking support also is believed to have been supplied to prevent the utter demoralization of the market after nearly a month of declining prices.

U. S. Steel Common, which sold down to $20.65 a share yesterday and then rebounded to $21.00 at the close, opened with a block of 5,900 shares at $21. International nickel opened with a block of 10,000 shares at $52.50, up $2.25, and Montgomery Ward with a block of 5,000 shares at $11.00, up $5.

Mrs. Gann Nearly Misses Visit From Miss Ishbel

Washington—(AP)—Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister and official hostess to Vice president Curtis, nearly missed a call today from Miss Ishbel MacDonald as a result of a morning trip to market.

At the Gann home it was said the visit of the British premier's daughter was unexpected and for a time there was uncertainty whether Mrs. Gann could be located and return home in time. Miss MacDonald, however, had not arrived before Mrs. Gann returned.

Miss MacDonald was up early on her first morning in the American capital, held a conference with women correspondents and then started a round of early calls which included visits to Mrs. Gann, Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Massey, wife of the Canadian minister.

At her room for everybody, she was the first words of the smiling daughter of Britain's premier as she greeted the correspondents. Her father was not present, having a full program of his own for the morning. Men correspondents also were absent.

Speaking of the reception in New York and Washington, she exclaimed: "It was wonderful, much more wonderful than I had anticipated." She, however, added, she personally preferred the quieter greeting she and her father received upon their arrival in America two years ago when her father was not the head of the British government.

"But please do not misunderstand me or think me lacking in appreciation," she said, "I'd like a quiet reception but I appreciated the warmth of yesterday's greeting."

She said that she planned to make her father's program in Washington very much her own.

BRITON VISITS NOTABLES AT U. S. CAPITAL

Wants "Cordial Friendship With American People," MacDonald Says

SEEKS NO ALLIANCE
Would Include All Nations in "Removal of Misunderstandings"

Washington—(AP)—A round of official calls claimed Ramsay MacDonald, the British prime minister, today before he and his daughter, Ishbel, went to the White House to be guests of President and Mrs. Hoover until next Tuesday.

Although threatening clouds studied the heavens, plans were made at the White House for the distinguished visitor to accompany President and Mrs. Hoover and Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson to the chief executive's rustic camp in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, 100 miles by motor from Washington.

The return was timed for early Monday so that Mr. MacDonald might visit congress at noon and speak to the senate before luncheon at the White House.

After a night of rest at the British embassy, the prime minister arrived early and breakfasted with Sir Esmé Howard, the British ambassador, and Lady Isabella Howard. He attended to some official correspondence before starting at 10 o'clock a. m. on a motor trip up the Canadian minister, Vincent Massey, and Michael MacWhite, the minister of the Irish Free State.

MEETS CURTIS
With an escort of motorcycle police, the prime minister drove to the capitol half an hour ahead of schedule and there first called on Vice President Curtis in his reception room off the senate chamber. He and Mr. Curtis chatted for a few minutes before being joined by Senator McKellar of New Hampshire, president pro tempore of the senate.

Like the prime minister, Mr. Curtis was attired in morning dress. Smoking a cigar, Mr. MacDonald spoke of his visit here and at the same time met various senators who called to pay their respects. Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader and Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, were among the visitors.

After 20 minutes the premier, accompanied by Mr. Curtis, Sir Esmé Howard and Representative Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, walked across the capitol corridor and called upon Chief Justice Taft.

Meeting as friends with a common ideal, sit down today for discussions which may have far-reaching effect upon the future course of history.

ACTRESS ASKS JUDGE TO SLASH ALIMONY DUE FROM EX-MATE

Los Angeles—(AP)—Mrs. Carter Do Haven, actress and divorced wife of the comedian, asked superior court to reduce her alimony.

"Why, I never heard of such a thing," the court gasped. Mrs. Do Haven explained that while she had been given custody of their two children, the husband was taking them on the stage and "I want to help him."

TWO RIVERS WOMAN IS KILLED WHILE HUNTING

Two Rivers, Wis.—(AP)—Mrs. G. L. Parmenter, 35, wife of O. C. Parmenter, physical director of the Two Rivers high school, was killed today while duck hunting, a charge from her shotgun entering her head.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmenter were beaching their skiff after a morning shoot. A mudhen on the river attracted their attention and Mrs. Parmenter reached for her gun. As she pulled it toward her, the trigger caught on a gun rest in the boat and the charge of the 16-gauge weapon tore through the right side of her face and head. Her husband was preparing to shoot at the mudhen and did not see his wife shot.

The coroner found that Mrs. Parmenter came to her death accidentally. There will be no inquest, he said.

A daughter, Doris, 11, survives. The Parmenters came here five years ago from Ohio. Both were ardent hunters and Mrs. Parmenter was on the river nearly every day, hunting or fishing.

ANOTHER LOS ANGELES POLICEMAN TO BE HELD

Los Angeles—(AP)—Arrest of the seventh Los Angeles policeman indicted for bribery because of the confession of J. H. Westman, alias Harry D. McDonald, that he had taken bribes for five years to protect his bootlegging business, was expected today.

A warrant was issued last night after the man had been indicted secretly by the grand jury.

Five indicted officers are at liberty under $10,000 pending trial, while the sixth, Thomas D. Washburn, will be sentenced Monday to from one to fourteen years for bribery. He was convicted this week.

Westman's disclosure of an alleged graft ring involving 60 policemen, some high ranking members of the vice squad, has been followed by a series of sensational developments, including death threats against the man and District Attorney Burton Pitts, and various investigations which resulted in an order being issued to Chief of Police James E. Davis to "clean up the department or get out."

Link 4 With Shooting In Strike Area

Two State Witnesses Say First Shots Came from Colony's Guards

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—Presentation of evidence by the state in the third trial of seven defendants for the slaying of Police Chief O. F. Adersholt of Gastonia, has resulted in four of the accused being linked with the fatal shooting. Eight witnesses were examined yesterday on the first day of hearing evidence and forecasts of court officials indicated an early verdict.

Featuring the day was the testimony of two state witnesses, who said the first and second shots fired at the Lory tent colony the night of June 7 were from the colony's guards.

Otto Mason, a carpenter, stated that he saw William McGinnis fire the first shot and Sheriff I. M. Allen of Cleveland said, said Louis McLaughlin admitted firing the second shot.

McLaughlin and McGinnis are being tried with Fred Erwin Beal, organizer for the National Textile Workers union and four other men on second degree murder charges.

Beal also was connected indirectly with the shooting in the testimony of Mason, who said the labor organizer had stated in an address before the shooting that "the mill thugs and stool pigeons have come down here to make trouble. If any one tries to enter these grounds bring them to me and what I'll do won't be good for them."

Begin Investigations In Canon City Prison Mutiny

RUSH REPAIRS WITH FELONS AS LABORERS

Dozen Killed in Rebellion—Property Damage More Than $300,000

Canon City, (P)—The tragic drama of the Colorado State prison riot gave way today to a commonplace routine as the rap of carpenter's hammers replaced the staccato of machine guns, an eight-fold investigation of the bloody mutiny got under way and preparations were made for funerals of 12 who lost their lives in the battle and massacre.

Of the 12 dead, seven were guards who laid down their lives to uphold law and order. The other five were convicts, one fatally wounded by a guard, three slain by the ringleader of the revolt and the leader who ended his life when his chances glimmered to nothingness with his death the mutiny ended as suddenly as it began.

While hundreds of convicts, not participants in the mutiny, bent to tasks of rebuilding cellhouses and other buildings, plans were taking form for investigation of the trouble. Sanford Bates, director of federal prisons; J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice; Gov. W. H. Adams of Colorado; Colorado Board of Corrections; Governor's purveyor; state civil service commission; state military authorities and Warden F. E. Crawford were to cooperate in a sweeping study of the situation hoping to ascertain why, by whom and where the tempest started.

1,000 LACK SHELTER

Nearly 1,000 prisoners were without shelter as a result of fires that swept the buildings. Twisted steel work was scattered about the granite buildings. Damage of $300,000 to $400,000 was caused by fire and the subsequent attack by national guardsmen and volunteers on the stronghold of the felons.

The mutiny started Thursday noon in the prison mess hall when one of the convicts, James Pardue, seized a guard's gun and shot the guard dead. Four other convicts, A. H. Davis, Melvin Majors, Albert McGraide and Danny Daniels, ringleader, captured several unarmed guards in the mess hall. Meantime they herded other convicts into a group. Another guard was shot from the prison wall, dead. Continuing their march, the five desperadoes captured a total of ten guards. These men were held as hostages for their freedom.

A note was sent the warden saying they would free the guards if the warden would provide three automobiles and let the five men go their ways. Death of the guards was threatened as the price of failure to comply. The warden refused the demand. Subsequent demands were also refused.

CARRY OUT THREAT

Bodies of four guards were thrown from the cellhouse where the five men and their captives were barricaded as repeated demands met refusal.

Pardue, wounded by a guard in the first skirmish at noon, a few hours later was shot through the stomach by Daniels to "put him out of his misery." Early Friday morning Daniels shot and killed his three companions. He told one of the three remaining guards to notify authorities they were giving up. The guard doubted, but later crept to the cell where the men were. He struck a match and saw he was in a tomb—Daniels had ended his own life and lay dead among the others.

The guard, O. A. Earl, notified the authorities, and other convicts in the cellhouse with the five mutineers fled out, hands high in the air. The mutiny was over.

THEATRE PARTY ROBBED OF $22,000 IN JEWELS

Chicago. (P)—Five robbers with eyes for gems early today held up a theatre party and stole jewelry valued at $22,000.

The party had just driven up in Mrs. Roberts' car to the Hodgkinson's home in a quiet section of Hyde Park when the bandits who had followed them from downtown, stopped and called to Hodgkinson that they were policemen.

From Mrs. Hodgkinson, the robbers took an emerald ring she valued at $10,000, a diamond ring and a wrist watch set with diamonds. Hodgkinson gave up a diamond ring and $20. Mrs. Roberts lost a string of beads, but a $5,000 ring was hidden by her gloves.

LINCOLN'S DEFENSE STRATEGY USED IN CASE AGAINST NEGRO

Colored Man Accused by Jury When Defense Shows Witness' Story Untrue

Reviving strategy credited to Abraham Lincoln, Abraham Sigman, attorney appointed to defend Arthur Wilson, 21, colored, of Durham, S. C., against charges of assault with intent to rape and assault with intent to do great bodily harm, succeeded in winning an acquittal from a jury in municipal court yesterday.

The 15-year-old daughter of John Kersten, 1513 W. Franklin-st., who positively identified Wilson as the man who struck her father, breaking his jaw and then attempted to attack her, claimed she made the identification by the light of a full moon. In building up his defense Mr. Sigman introduced a calendar showing that on July 16, the night of the attack, the moon was just three days beyond the first quarter, which occurred on July 13. Full moon in the month of July did not occur until July 22, the defense proved.

Miss Kersten's identification of Wilson was the strongest point in the state's case against him and she was the state's principal witness. Her father testified that Wilson resembled the man who attacked him but he couldn't be positive of the identification.

The attack on Mr. Kersten and his daughter occurred when she and her father were on their way home from the Badger-ave show lot where the 101 Ranch and Wild West show was playing. Police arrested Wilson at the depot about 9:30 after they learned that he had quit the show that afternoon. Wilson protested his innocence, claiming he had been waiting at the depot for a train to take him to Chicago. He said he was in a saloon near the depot at 9 o'clock, the hour which Miss Kersten and her father set as the time they were attacked. "The evidence showed that a Negro had been in the saloon at the time Wilson claimed he was there but witnesses could not identify him positively as the man they had seen."

The case opened in the upper branch of municipal court before Judge Berg on Thursday morning. The jury retired at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, went to supper and returned with a verdict at 7:45.

SENATE HEARING ON COMMUNICATIONS TO AWAIT TARIFF VOTE

Couzens Believes Inquiry Will Be Resumed During Next Month

Washington. (P)—Resumption by the senate interstate commerce committee of its sweeping investigation into the whole field of radio, telephone, telegraph and cable communication waits only on passage of the tariff bill by the senate.

Chairman Couzens believes, in view of a statement by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, that the bill will be out of the way by the end of the month and the hearings started again in November. He is ready to call a long list of witnesses, but is reluctant as to their identity. A complete investigation, extending into the interstate transmission of electric power, is contemplated, however, and the committee is expected to call upon all who it believes have information of value.

When it goes to work again, it will have the assistance of William S. Green, a St. Paul, Minn., attorney, who has had considerable experience in the field of the inquiry and will be able to turn attention to matters that might be overlooked by committee.

The committee undoubtedly will follow up testimony that a monopoly existed in the radio industry, which it received before the hearings were suspended last spring after examination of army, navy and civilian radio experts.

Next in order will come testimony on the telephone industry, and then the Couzens proposal for federal control of interstate transmission of electric power.

The committee will report after completing its inquiry on a bill by Couzens which would place all kinds of electrical communication under a new commission, superseding the radio commission. The latter becomes only an appellate body after Jan. 1 unless new legislation is enacted before then.

Lindberghs May Hop Off Today On Maya Exploration

Belize, British Honduras. (P)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today awaited here the arrival of scientists of the Carnegie institute who will accompany them on exploration flights above the ruins of the ancient Maya cities.

The two scientists, Dr. Oliver Ricketson and Dr. A. V. Kidder, were expected sometime today. Plans for departure of Colonel Lindbergh and his party were held somewhat in abeyance awaiting the arrival of the Carnegie institute.

Dr. Ricketson, who is known as one of the foremost authorities on the ancient Maya ruins, will act as guide for the party, which probably will take as its base Cozumel island, off the coast of the Yucatan peninsula. Various of the ruins are located on Cozumel island, in Yucatan; Quintana Roo and Chiapas, Mexico, and in Guatemala and British Honduras.

Beginning of the flights will mark culmination of a long cherished ambition of the famous aviator, who since he first flew over the jungle fastness of the Yucatan peninsula was thrilled with the realization that beneath him once thrived a civilization surpassing even that of the Aztecs and Incas. He believes it possible flights over the Maya areas may reveal even other ruined cities, hitherto hidden in the jungles.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh landed here yesterday afternoon after an uneventful trip from Guatemala City. The two were guests last night at government house, the colonel, however, asking that there be no official functions in their honor during their stay.

Authorities agree that American Indian civilization reached its highest stage among the Mayas, who at the time of the conquest by Cortez probably numbered about 2,000,000 souls. The race now is all but extinct but recent archaeological investigations have disclosed ruins which indicate such marks of advancement as a dawning literature and jury system.

COUNCIL VOTES CURBING AROUND NEW BOULEVARD

Memorial Drive Plans Adopted So Legion Can Plan Its Work

Plans for widening Memorial drive and the construction of four intersections through the boulevard were adopted at the adjourned meeting of the common council Friday evening. Although the work will not be done until next spring, the project was approved at this time so that the American Legion could work out its plans for the improvement of the boulevard.

A 2-foot curb and gutter will be constructed around the boulevard, and intersections will be cut through at Cherry-st. W. Verbrist-st, Russell-st and River-dr. The 15-foot terrace on each side will remain as it is.

The contract for the new heating plant at the fire department building was awarded to the low bidder, Ryan and Long, whose price was $1280. Other bids were Wenzel Brothers, $1308; Winter and Son, $1700; Engel-Heating company, $1465; and Patterson company, $1575. The work will be surveyed by the building inspector.

After investigating the painting job done in the city hall building and grounds committee advised payment of $533 to John Croll, painting contractor.

TARIFF FIGHT IS AID TO DEMOCRATS

Shouse Says Republicans Fear to Go to Country With Bill as Issue

Emporia, Kas. (P)—The fight being waged in congress by Democratic senators against the Republican tariff bill is regarded by Jettett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National executive committee, as an important part of the party's preparation for the next congressional and presidential campaign, promising a success impossible with short-lived, intensive campaigns begun only a few months before elections.

Speaking at a dinner here attended by state Democratic leaders, Mr. Shouse declared the Republican party has abandoned its "pretense of tariff revision to benefit the farmer" and is bent on rushing the tariff bill through congress, "fearing to go to the country with the bill as an issue" in next year's congressional elections.

"They accuse us of making the tariff fight for a political purpose," said Mr. Shouse. "That is true only so far as that it may round to the interest of the Democrats to prevent enactment of a legislative abomination."

"The job of the Democratic national committee is to prepare the party so that it may go into the coming campaign at the highest point of efficiency. x x x The fight we have been making against the tariff bill is part of this preparation. That we are on the right track is indicated by the distress of our opponents at the prospect of the congressional elections next year."

Talks To Parents

THE TIME OF STRESS By Alice Judson Peale

Adolescence, the hour, is the "time of stress," the period when hitherto meek and exemplary children become suddenly obstreperous and unpredictable, when every situation is loaded with dynamite. It is a period for which we are told to prepare ourselves with extra wisdom and extra patience.

Certainly it is obvious that these years must be difficult for a number of reasons both physical and psychological. And yet it seems to me that we approach its problems with an excess of trepidation, with the mistaken feeling that they are wholly different from all the other problems of childhood.

An adolescent does not become one overnight. Adolescence is a phase of gradually left behind. What a child is as an adolescent is but the outcome of what he has been through all the years before. Your adolescent was your baby, your toddler and your school boy long before he reached this reputedly so dangerous age.

Its difficulties are acute only when the difficulties of the years before have been unwisely handled. The parent wise enough to foster independence in her little one is faced with no rebellion from the high school boy or girl who is seeking his emancipation from parental leading strings.

The parent who has tried all along to develop in her child judgment and good taste will have less cause to be shocked and grieved when her children set out upon the gay pursuits of youth than that mother whose child has always "toed the line," whose obedience has been a blind obedience to authority. The preparation for the time of stress is found in all the years that go before.

Four Russian Aviators Safe—Plane Is Damaged

Craig, Alaska. (P)—The four Russian aviators flying from Moscow to New York were safe today after their monoplane Land of the Soviets had been forced down by motor trouble at Waterfall, north of here.

Flying through a severe electrical storm and fighting a terrific wind the aviators narrowly escaped after both motors of the monoplane stopped.

Resumption of the flight to Seattle, the next stop in the 12,000 mile air journey, probably will not be possible for a week because a new motor must be installed in the monoplane. The motor and supplies will be shipped from Seattle. The left engine will be replaced and the right motor repaired.

The Russians left Sitka early Thursday for Seattle, taking off at 6:42 a. m. (Pacific coast time). During the flight of approximately 200 miles the plane encountered bad weather, rain blinded the pilots and the huge plane flew only a few feet above the water.

The left motor suddenly stopped and the plane was swung around and headed for Waterfall bay, on the southeastern end of Alaska. As the haven was reached the other motor also quit.

Two Russians remained with the plane, which was moored after considerable difficulty in a heavy wind.

The first Zion school was opened in October, 1883. Soon after the founding of the Zion congregation a day school was arranged for. The Bartlett store on N. Oneida-st, north of the present fire department building, served as the first quarters for the day school, the first enrollment being 20 pupils.

Two years later a school building was erected on the site of the present parsonage and was dedicated Nov. 30, 1885, the Rev. Max Hein and the Rev. Waltner, assistant pastor, alternating in teaching. The first teacher, Adam Stumpf was installed in 1886. A second teacher was engaged in 1894 and the school building was moved to Commercial-st. It was remodeled and enlarged. ## C. C. WARNS ABOUT THREE SOLICITORS

Magazine and Silver Polish Salesmen Misrepresenting Themselves, Claim

Appleton housewives are warned by the chamber of commerce to beware solicitors operating in the city and misrepresenting themselves or their products.

Two young men have been soliciting subscriptions for magazines under the pretext that they are Lawrence college students and are earning money to help them, through school. Investigation has shown the men are not Lawrence students. The case has been turned over to police.

Another salesman operating in Appleton is selling silver polish. He is said to have claimed that he is related to a member of a jewelry firm in Appleton and that several well known persons here have endorsed his polish. Investigation by the chamber of commerce revealed no relationship and no endorsement, the chamber reports.

COUNCIL VOTES $40 TO GET RID OF BED BUGS IN CITY HOME

It's bad enough to have bedbugs that bite, but it's worse to have bedbugs that cost money, the aldermen think. It seems, says the report of the poor committee, that the City Home has bedbugs; and it seems that it's going to cost about $40 to get rid of them. That amount was voted by the common council Wednesday night as additional expense for cleaning the city home and in the words of the committee chairman, "take up the bedbugs."

The committee also will endeavor to secure the old chairs formerly used in the council chambers for the home and will purchase a dozen blankets and six table spreads.

MECHANICS MAY GET AIRCRAFT LICENSES

Indicate Present Law Keeps Many Good Men Out of Aviation Industry

Licensing of experienced automobile mechanics as aircraft mechanics without forcing them to take a year's apprentice course is being considered by the bureau of aeronautics of the department of commerce.

The move was started by Thomas L. Hill, president of the American Society for the Promotion of Aviation, who points out that many competent mechanics cannot enter aviation because they cannot afford to leave their positions for a year to take the apprentice course. The restriction is considered a hindrance rather than an aid to aviation.

Another aviation ruling recently handed down by the war department relates to air planes at dedication of air ports. Requests for air corps participation at civilian dedications should reach the war department 30 days before the celebration, it is said. War department planes can be used for exhibition only once in a city unless the port first dedicated is abandoned or found to be unsatisfactory.

Norris Orders Accounting For All Lobbyist Funds

ALL NATIONAL GROUPS WILL BE INCLUDED

Senator Says He Will Insist on Thorough Investigation at Capital

Washington—(AP)—Full accounting of funds and expenditures by all national organizations, including wet and dry and church associations interested in legislation before congress, was ordered today by Chairman Norris of the senate judiciary committee, in the pending lobby investigation.

"You can't make fish of some and fowl of others," observed Senator Norris as he gave notice that he would insist upon thorough investigation by the committee of the financing activities of all organizations.

Senator Norris will name the committee of inquiry at the meeting of the judiciary committee on Monday and it seemed likely tonight that Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, the author of the investigation resolution, would be the chairman.

"The Arkansas senator has indicated a desire to direct full attention of the committee to the activities of those at Washington interested in tariff legislation, inasmuch as the tariff measure is now before the senate."

Both Senators Caraway and Norris are insistent that the Washington "social lobby" get attention in the investigation.

They believe this takes the form of social entertainment of officials. They also agree that this will be one of the hardest to ferret out.

The determination of Senator Norris to go into the records of all associations, means a long investigation.

This is the first inquiry into the activities of lobbyists at Washington since 1913 when President Wilson spoke out against them, and Senator Reid, Democrat, Missouri, played the role of prosecutor.

Then also a tariff bill was before the senate and every member was called upon to state whether he had a personal interest which would be affected by any of the rates under consideration.

BESSIE ELKINS GETS DIVORCE IN COURT HERE

Mrs. Bessie Elkins, 42, who is known throughout this section of the state as a roadhouse and resort operator, was granted an absolute divorce by Acting Municipal Judge Fred V. Heinemann in court here this noon from her husband, Edward, 43, an unknown.

Mrs. Elkins charged her husband was cruel and inhuman because he didn't support her and because he habitually associated with other women. Mr. Elkins was not in court to fight the case.

Her occupation was operating a tea room, Mrs. Elkins said on the witness stand this morning. She was involved as one of the state's chief witnesses in the case of the former sheriff of Winnebago county where she operates a "tea room."

Mrs. Elkins did not ask for any alimony. The Elkins' were married in St. Louis, Mo., in 1905 and separated in 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Melzer and Mr. Charles will go to Sparta where they will spend the weekend with relatives.

SENATOR HITS COPS WHO CHASE PETTERS AND BOOZE TOTERS

Washington—(AP)—Senator Thomas, Democrat, South Carolina, thinks Washington police are too much concerned over liquor and "petting."

Urging a senate investigation of the police department, brought under severe criticism in the mystery over the death of young Mrs. Virginia McPherson, he said: "If there is one type of petting, it is the type that the type that, armed with a flashlight, will sneak up on some boy and girl making love in the park."

"Why, you can't stop a thing like that, and it's foolish to try!" "Yet some policemen do it to fatten their records, even though they have to drag some young girl's name through the mud."

As to arrests for drunkenness, he asked: "What's the sense in arresting a man because he's got a few bottles aboard? If he's making his own business and on his way, he ought to be left alone. Of course, if he's not, he ought to be arrested."

MRS. PANTAGES UP FOR SENTENCE TODAY

Husband's Trial Adjourned—Woman to Be Carried into Courtroom

Los Angeles—(AP)—Interest in the trial of Alexander T. Pantages, 44-year-old theatre magnate, on a statutory charge brought by a 17-year-old dancer, shifted today to the fate of his wife, Mrs. Lois Pantages, who was to appear in superior court to hear herself sentenced to from one to ten years in San Quentin penitentiary for manslaughter.

Pantages' trial was adjourned yesterday until Friday with Judge Prince ordering the prosecution to prepare a charge against him, still on the stand. Miss Pringle, recounted her version of the alleged attack the multimillionaire made upon her Aug. 19 in "the stairway cubby hole" in his theatre building and related efforts of defense attorneys on cross-examination to impeach her. She will take the stand for further questioning Monday.

Mrs. Pantages was found guilty of responsibility for the death of Juro Rokumoto, Japanese gardener, fatally injured June 16 in a collision of their automobiles. Her sentencing has been postponed twice, once because she had not recovered from a physical collapse which came with the reading of the verdict. Judge Prince Monday allowed preparation of arguments on a defense motion for a new trial.

"The woman has been in precarious health since the collision, which occurred, the state alleged, while she was intoxicated. It was indicated she would be carried into the court room today."

Repeated intimations that Mrs. Pantages would not ask for probation have been given at her home where she is under the care of doctors. The state was prepared to resist efforts to obtain a new trial.

ENGLISH ACTORS ASK HELP FROM AMERICAN

London—(AP)—English actors and actresses have called for help from America and have asked John Emerson, president of the Actors Equity association, New York, to tell them how to solve their troubles with producers and managers.

A long accumulated list of stragglings of actors out of work from London minus carfare home finally has brought a call for a joint meeting of the Stage Guild and Actors association to be held Oct. 8 at which Emerson will tell the Britishers of the success of equity.

"I can't do anything, of course," Emerson said today. "They have to get together first, and then if the experience of the American equity is of any help I shall be glad to tell them, but I can't organize them."

Many of the more prominent British actors have joined in an effort to get one efficient organization that would protect actors in bankrupt shows and force producers to place a bond covering a fortnight's salary and traveling expenses, as is done by the American Equity association.

MICHIGAN TEACHERS REELECT PRESIDENT

Escanaba, Mich.—(AP)—W. H. Whisman, superintendent of the Marquette public schools, will head the Upper Peninsula district of the Michigan Education association for the next year.

The bodies were moved 50 feet nearer the buoy and found.

RESERVOIR PLANNED TO FIGHT FIRES AT COUNTY SANATORIUM

Committees Discuss Plans for Protection at Joint Meeting

Plans for a reservoir which will be filled with water from the Fox river and used to protect the Riverview sanatorium at Combined Locks from fire were ordered drawn at a joint meeting of the county board building and grounds and sanatorium trustees at a special meeting at the sanatorium Friday afternoon.

A. E. McMahon, Menasha engineer, was instructed to prepare the plans as well as an estimate of the cost of the work. The reservoir, in which will be filled from a 24-inch pipe line extending into the Fox river, will be equipped with three connections to which pumping engines can be attached.

The reservoir plan was advanced by Fire Chiefs George P. McGillion on Appleton and Albert Luckow, Kaukauna, who had been invited to the meeting to aid in making plans for protecting the institution. The joint committees were acting on the matter as the result of instructions from the county board.

With the reservoir, the fire chiefs pointed out, an inexhaustible supply of water would be guaranteed even during winter months when the river was frozen over.

Engineer McMahon also was instructed to prepare plans for two roadways, one along the north side of the sanatorium and the other along the river bank on the south side. Estimates of the cost of constructing each will be made and the committees will then decide which road shall be built.

Mrs. A. H. Thurer, Appleton, presented a plan for beautifying the grounds about the sanatorium by planting shrubs and flowers. She was instructed to prepare a plan, however, to provide landscaping for both the proposed roadways. The plan to be used will be chosen by the committees after they decide which road is to be built.

Bills, for partial payment of the cost of construction of the addition to the sanatorium, totaling $10,916 were allowed by the committee.

Mrs. Hogan was injured when she lost control of her car between Clintonville and Marion Thursday morning and drove into the path of another car.

Women interested in modern methods of solving homemaking problems have been urged by Miss Thompson to attend the meetings in the vicinity of which they live. Following is a list of the meetings: Tuesday, Oct. 8, 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., Thurks' hall at Sugar Bush; Tuesday evening, home of Mrs. Trauba at Greenville; Wednesday afternoon, at the church in Nichols; Wednesday evening, in the church kitchen at Medina; Friday afternoon, in the high school at Shiocton.

ORDER HEARING ON APARTMENT PLEA

A public hearing will be held at the next meeting of the common council to hear objections to the construction of a four family apartment building on Franklin-st. The building will be erected by Dr. D. S. Runnels.

Thousands To File Past Bier Of Dr. Stresemann

Berlin—(AP)—Thousands of Germans are expected to file past the bier of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, deceased German foreign minister, tomorrow morning when his body is placed on a catafalque outside the Reichstag before its interment.

Later in the day it will be taken through the streets of Berlin to the modest cemetery where Dr. Stresemann wished to be buried. Only relatives, a few friends, government officials, and co-workers of the foreign office will be there to witness interment and sing a few of the songs, mostly hymns, which the statesman loved.

The body was laid out in state yesterday in his official residence adjoining the foreign office, with a police guard on duty day and night in the garden outside the building. The bier was draped with flowers. At his office in the foreign ministry his vacant chair was covered with white flowers.

Dr. Pullus Curtius has been appointed foreign minister ad interim by President Paul von Hindenburg. He has held the portfolio of minister of economics. So widespread is the feeling of loss in the death of Dr. Stresemann that no immediate political and governmental reaction is expected now.

Some observers even feel his death has hastened the success of his long struggle for the international reality to his and Germany. Public loyalty to his memory seems for the time being at least to have united many wavering elements to the government of Chancellor Mueller.

PARIS POLICE SCENT HOAX IN APPARENT BURIAL OF LIVE MAN

Paris—(AP)—Paris police wonder if they are not being made victims of a hoax in a strange case of a dead man apparently buried alive, which was revealed to them yesterday.

The dead man is Clement Pissal, alias the marquis of Champagne, who had a long criminal record and had just served a sentence for swindling.

Let on by letters signed by the "Knights of Themis" the police found what appeared to be the body of Pissal, dead, in a shallow grave in Verneuil woods, only a few miles from Paris. A rubber hose led from the face of the man in the rude coffin to the open air.

The body had every appearance of death by starvation, but police, who wondered if they were not being duped handed it over to consulting surgeons to determine if the man really was dead or not just in some sort of a cataleptic trance. The surgeons pronounced him dead.

The "Knights of Themis," in letters sent to Paris newspapers, purports to be a secret organization of French aristocracy with the purpose of punishing French swindlers and criminals whom the laws of France have failed to deal adequately. The entire case is one of the most fantastic the Paris police have ever been called upon to handle.

CHIFFON COTTONS WILL BE POPULAR

"Moulded Figures" Promised by Newest Winter Styles

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—It looks, even so early, like a good season this winter at Palm Beach. Chiffon cottons that "mould the figure" are promised, not to say promising, for afternoon wear. Cotton weaves resembling waffles and another which is spongy ought to fit in well with the moist climate prevalent roundabout certain festive areas; and as for dinner gowns of cotton mesh, worn over little or nothing, they must be seen to be appreciated.

YES, WE HAVE SOME BANANAS
Among the newer colors is "banana," a rich shade of tan. This looks particularly well in crepe or satin combined with dark brown velvet. Occasionally it is combined with a golden tint, but if you have a banana here don't wear it on a dabbler, or light, "illy" sleeve unless you suffer from a rainbow complex.

SCULPTURED JEWELRY
First glance at jewelry if you really saw it, but it's there all right, and they call it sculptured jewelry. Unlike the diamond-studded frogs and chameleons of other days, this new jewelry displays not only an animal or a flower, but the animal or flower in its proper background. Brooches and pendants are designed in realistic little snatches from nature, such as birds in trees, flowers in posies, and fish in fountains. One crystal-pond-of-brooch is surrounded by leaves of jade and brilliant from under which a coral turtle peers forth, wondering how he got there.

4 SEEK CERTIFICATES AS MASTER ELECTRICIANS

An examination for master electrician licenses will be held at city hall at 7:30 Thursday evening, under the direction of the electrical examiners board. Four men, Elthe, Edwards, Milwaukee; Fred Kufner, Howard Eberhard and Ernest Maynard, Appleton, will take the examinations.

TRUCK DRIVER HURT WHEN CAR TIPS OVER

Gerald Bauer, 19, 1924 S. Oneida-st., received minor bruises Friday afternoon in an automobile accident near the Triangle school house at the junction of Highways 26 and 10. In attempting to turn out for an oncoming car the truck Bauer was driving ran off the pavement and turned over. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

A supply of 12,000 trapping tags were received Saturday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, from the state conservation commission. Copies of hunting and trapping laws have not yet been received by Mr. Hantschel and he is daily receiving many requests for copies from sportsmen. They are expected to arrive soon.

NEW YORK BUTCHER NEAR DEATH AFTER BATTLE WITH COPS

New York—(AP)—A butcher was in a hospital today suffering from a dozen bullet wounds inflicted during a gun battle with police reserves who stormed his barricaded apartment.

Federico Anton Strydom, investigating a complaint that Herman Lohn, 46, the butcher, had threatened to kill his wife, was met at the door of the First-ave apartment by Lohn, armed with a knife.

Strydom managed to disarm the butcher but was knocked unconscious by a blow on the head with a piece of walled brick. Police reserve John McDonald who was guarding the front entrance called reserves.

The score of police who respond ed found Lohn had barricaded the door and armed himself with a pistol. In the battle that ensued more than 50 shots were fired before police forced the door and found Lohn severely wounded by bullets which had struck him in the face and body.

Mr. Wagg was named associate grand patron of the state chapter, the second Appleton man to be so honored in recent years.

Grand patron of the state chapter for the coming year will be James Taylor, Oshkosh, who was elected at the convention. Following the usual custom, it is probable that Mr. Wagg will be named a candidate for the office of grand patron at next year's meeting although he must go before the convention for election.

LABOR CREDITED WITH AIDING WOMEN WORKERS

Washington—(AP)—Organized labor, including the Women's Trade Union league, is given high credit for the development of protective legislation for women workers of America in a new government bulletin setting forth the present labor law situation.

The women's bureau of the labor department, publishing the bulletin, also credited the National Consumers' league and social, civic, philanthropic and church organizations with exerting a strong influence in bringing about the enactment of labor laws for women.

The bulletin presents the chronological development of such legislation affecting women in each of the 48 states, with the latest history of Massachusetts, New York, and California, where it has been most extensive.

Daily and weekly work laws, night work laws, laws prohibiting certain kinds of employment or regulating working conditions, laws safeguarding health are included in the digest, which goes back to the first hour law in America, enacted in 1847 in New Hampshire.

Rural Youngsters More Healthy Than City Pupils

Doctors who are making the physical examination of county rural school children this fall are finding that the rural children's teeth are in much better condition than the teeth of children attending city and village schools, according to Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, who is filing the reports of the physicians as the work proceeds.

Another fact which has been noticed by the doctors, according to Miss Klein, is that children living in villages or near villages, are not generally in as good health as are the children attending "country" schools. They attribute this to the fact that children living in or near villages have more opportunities to lunch between meals and during school hours.

An alarming prevalence of heart trouble is another peculiar fact which the physical examinations are revealing according to Miss Klein. Cases of this trouble are found in practically every school. In most cases, however, Miss Klein said, prompt and proper care will result in cures.

Miss Klein is tabulating the reports of the physicians on the work already done and these will be ready next week.

Next week the doctors will work in the town of Maple Creek, Hortonville and Liberty and complete the work in Dale.

BANKERS MAKE TOUR OF WESTERN COAST AFTER CONVENTION

BY BEN G. KLINE
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
San Francisco—Though they failed to reconcile conflicting viewpoints regarding the respective merits of group and unit banks, that portion of the nation's bankers which attended the fifty-fifth annual convention of the American Bankers association will have accompanied one thing pretty thoroughly when they have returned home.

They will have seen the west coast. The convention, which formally ended its four-day program Thursday, today entered stage of recreation and travel. The annual golf tournament, scheduled to be played on the beautiful Olympic club course between ocean and bay, takes the bankers' activities from the financial to the sports pages, where western hospitality probably will preclude it being recorded that as golf players the big bankers of the country are good bankers.

But whether they have tarried for golf or occupied berths on crowded trains which left last night, the delegates as a rule are taking in the whole coast on their convention trip. Those who came via Seattle and Portland are returning by way of Southern California, and those who visited Los Angeles and the movie capital on their way out are mostly going back through the northwest. The San Francisco bay district has been thoroughly explored and many are visiting Yosemite and other tourist attractions.

The accomplishments of the convention might be summed up by stating the trend toward larger aggregations of capital was thoroughly reviewed; the varying and conflicting view points toward group, chain, branch and unit banking were completely presented; and an immense amount of work was done and information exchanged on the problem of better bank management.

CANT RUSH BANKERS

Anyone who has ever asked for a loan knows you can't stampede a banker, and though no effort to stampede the convention in favor of extended branch banking was made, it was plain that any attempt in that direction would not have succeeded. The cautious resolution adopted calling for further study of the problem of branch banking was the natural result of compitroler Pole's advocacy of more liberal charters for natural banks and the very evident unfavorable reaction on the part of state bank executives and unit bankers.

Evidence has been strong here this week that bankers are sincere when they give their customers the familiar advice about safe investment. They live up to it themselves. Though this has been a week of great stock exchange activity, the order clerk in a branch of a brokerage house in the lobby of a hotel where hundreds of visiting bankers have been stopping reports that "There have been a few in watching the board but they haven't placed any orders that amounted to much."

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 6 to 12

PROTECT CITY FROM FIRE, CHIEF URGES

Neenah — To prevent fires and conflagrations a city must be properly protected both by men and equipment, Chief George McGillan of the Appleton fire department told the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Sign of the Fox. Chief McGillan, gave methods of preventing fires and fire losses. He complimented Neenah on its equipment for fighting fires.

Appleton, he reported, is gradually adding to its equipment. It now is one of the best protected cities in the state, he said. He discussed the fire loss in the valley last year, and gave a list of fire hazards in a city which can be eliminated early. He recommended inspections and strict observance of rules governing these inspections, and read articles relating to fire prevention week, October 6 to 12.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCT. 6-12

Governor Sets Date by Proclamation—Urges Prevention of Fires

Madison—(AP)—Pointing to the "appalling losses sustained by the American people annually because of fire," Gov. Walter J. Kohler has proclaimed Oct. 6 to 12 as Fire Prevention Week in Wisconsin.

"In addition to the general problem common to all the states, Wisconsin has the menace of forest fires," said the proclamation. "It is the opinion of well informed students of the problem that a large proportion of our destructive fires could be prevented and common observation confirms this view. A part of the work of prevention must be concerted effort. A great deal of it depends upon the education of individuals."

Help Kill The Fire Menace In APPLETON!

The most disreputable character in town is fire. He is our vilest murderer, one of our biggest thieves, our most treacherous enemy. Let's all cooperate to run him out of town.

In 1928 in Wisconsin 73 lives were lost in fires and 163 people received serious injuries and the fire loss was over $9,000,000 according to the commission.

And remember this—two out of every three fires are preventable. That means that two out of every three fires here in our own city are caused by ignorance or carelessness.

Next week is Fire Prevention Week—a time to give thought and to take serious action. Let's all learn to be sure that our matches, cigars and cigarettes are out before we toss them aside, let's make sure that chimneys and flues are in good condition. Let's keep our homes, stores, and factories clean and free from rubbish. Let's build as safely as we can and take every means to protect that which we build.

LET'S ALL DO EVERYTHING WE CAN TO RUN FIRE OUT OF TOWN.

NO SUGGESTION FROM C. OF C. ON POSTOFFICE SITE

Chamber Is Eager That Government Shall Have Choice of Locations

No recommendation has been made by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce for the new postoffice site, it was announced yesterday by H. A. Schlitz, president of the chamber.

"The chamber of commerce has not been asked to recommend a site for the postoffice and we have no intention of doing so," Mr. Schlitz said. "The chamber, however, is interested in having several sites offered to the government at a price that the government will pay so there can be a choice of locations. The chamber has taken steps to confer with property owners in an effort to have them keep their demands down to the limit which the government has set, but it has not suggested that any of the suggested sites be accepted."

"The chamber of commerce is eager that a postoffice be erected here in the near future and it will do what it can to see to it that the government will have suitable sites from which to make a selection."

"It is probable the government long ago would have made a choice if the prices asked for suitable sites had not been larger than the government believed the property worth. It is our understanding that the postoffice department will not permit itself to be 'held up' to obtain property and that it is not likely a postoffice will be built here until a site can be obtained at the figure the government wants to pay."

FEWER COUPLES ARE SECURING MARRIAGE PERMITS THIS YEAR

A decided decrease in the number of marriage licenses issued in the first three quarters of this year as compared with the same period of 1928 has been noticed, according to records at the office of John R. Hantschel, county clerk. The records show there were 328 licenses issued in the first nine months of 1928 while only 246 were given out. Mr. Hantschel said that only 47 licenses were issued in September as compared with 56 in the same month last year.

ELECTS PRESIDENTS OF WOMEN'S DORMITORIES

Christian Science

The following lecture entitled "Christian Science: God's Answer to Humanity's Cry for Freedom," was delivered in Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday evening by William Duncan Kilpatrick, C. S. B., of Detroit, Mich.

THE CAUSE OF HUMANITY'S BONDAGE
The keynote of Christian Science is "freedom" — freedom from all the inharmonies of human existence, which binds mortals like bands of steel. The reason mankind is held in bondage to the thralldom of sin, sickness, poverty, sorrow, inharmonies, want, woe, and the like is because men do not understand what it is that binds them with these shackles. They have ever been truly willing to be free from these relentless human foes, but this freedom has been denied them because of their ignorance of the cause of this bondage. To arrive at the cause of all the inharmonies of mankind, Christian Science teaches that men must first learn of God. That is, they must learn what God is, and what man is in God's image, and likeness is; and this knowledge, when applied in their everyday human affairs, will not only reveal the fact that all erroneous physical effects have a mental cause, but it will at the same time accomplish mankind's freedom from these physical effects completely and finally.

GOD

The Bible teaches that God is Love; it teaches that God is Spirit; that God is Life; that God is Truth; that God is Principle, and it teaches that God is Soul. In your early concept you probably had a finite, human, limited, personally circumscribed sense of Deity. Before Christian Science opened the Bible for me, I always thought of God as a humanly circumscribed personality, of which this mortal fleshly concept of man is an exact counterpart, because I had read in the Bible that God made man in His image and likeness. I had not stopped to consider that the Bible does not say that God was made in the image and likeness of this mortal man. I, like almost everyone else, had simply thought of God as the image and likeness of mortal man, instead of thinking of man in the image and likeness of God. Now, in the light of what the Bible teaches about God—that is, that God is Love and Life and Spirit—where could there possibly be any basis for the concept of God as a finite, humanly circumscribed personality? You see most of us have never taken the Bible into account. We have simply been doing our thinking along the lines of least resistance. We have believed what someone else has believed, or else we have formed our own individual concepts about God, the while we have completely ignored what the Bible teaches about God. If there is any one thing for which I am grateful to Christian Science above everything else it is that Christian Science has made me read, study, and understand the Bible. And I have found, as you may find on studying the Bible, that God is exactly what Mrs. Eddy describes him to be in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 465), namely, "in-corporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love."

MAN'S REFLECTIONS OF GOD

And how are these synonyms to be comprehended and their meaning applied by you and me? Why, through spiritual thinking. If God is Love, as the Bible says He is, then He must be expressed or reflected by man in terms of love, or in loving acts. St. John puts it thus: "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love." Now that is plain. Love is spiritual. It is something that man manifests in his thinking. Love is the sense in which it is used in the Bible and in Christian Science to define God does not involve a personal or sentimental sense of affection. Love might well be described as the absence of hate. When no trace of hate or jealousy or revenge, and so forth, is left in one's consciousness, then that one may be said to be expressing or reflecting love, regard less of any reference or allusion to any person, place, or thing. If we think we reflect love while we entertain hate for our brotherman, we are only deceiving ourselves and separating ourselves from God, and from that love He has vouchsafed every one of us. So is it not clear from what John says, that as you and I reflect love, kindness, forgiveness, gentleness, compassion, and tenderness, we are reflecting somewhat the qualities of God, divine Mind? St. John says, in further explanation: "No man hath seen God at any time;" that is, God is not cognizable through the medium of seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing (the five physical senses), nor is He to be found in the realm of the physical. Then he goes on to explain, "If we love one another, God dwelleth in us"—all of which shows us beyond any question of a doubt that God is to be found in the realm of the mental, and that God's reflection, man, is to be likewise perceived and understood.

THE MATERIAL UNIVERSE

"But," someone may say, "What about this material — the material universe, the material body, et cetera? If God did not create them who or what did?"

One of the most startling assertions and admissions from the pen of a physical scientist that I have seen, appeared in an article in the London (England) Observer, of Sunday, November 26, 1925. The article headed, "The New Outlook of Science," was a review of a book entitled, "The Domain of Physical Science," by Professor Eddington. Because of the radical, broad, and, more or less, revolutionary statements attributed to the learned gentleman, I took occasion to ascertain just who Professor Eddington might be. The professor, I found, holds an important chair of science in the University at Oxford, England, and is considered one of the leading, if not the leading, physical scientist in Europe, and possibly in the world today. This, briefly, is what the learned professor has given to the world in his book: "Of the intrinsic nature of matter, for instance, science knows nothing and never can know anything. Of what matter is science tells us nothing.... For all we know matter may itself be mental.... The old view, therefore, that atoms or electrons are the ultimate reality, and that, by interacting on one another in accordance with the laws of Nature, they produce our minds, with all their hopes and aspirations, has no longer any scientific basis.... Another bugbear that many artists and religious people have found so depressing, the 'iron laws' of Nature, also acquire an entirely new status as the result of recent scientific work. It can be shown that these laws are the results of the mind's own action.... The laws of Nature are not something imposed on an independently existing universe from without. Indeed, not only the laws of Nature, but space and time and the material universe itself, are constructions of the human mind.... To and altogether unsuspected extent the universe we live in is the creation of our own minds. The nature of it is forever outside scientific investigation. If we are to know anything of that nature it must be through something like religious experience." And that, my friends, from one of the foremost material scientists in the world.

A THOUGHT UNIVERSE

In our material existence we live in a world of carnal consciousness, instead of a self-created world of matter, and we see, feel, taste, smell, and hear materially just what we believe. We live in consciousness rather than in matter, and we establish our own experiences of so-called material existence in proportion as our thinking is humanly right or wrong; that is, we rise or fall in our scale of human living in the proportion we believe in good or bad. Thus, if we are believing in matter as real or a creation of God; if we are believing that sin is a pleasure and indulging sin; if we are believing that sickness is God-ordained or a condition of matter instead of a condition of mind; if we hate, if we worry, if we are fearful, selfish, revengeful, and so on, we are then on the mental level of existence where hate, worry, fear, poverty, sickness, and sin abound and we suffer not only from our own wrong beliefs but we are more or less susceptible to the beliefs of those who believe as we do. By entertaining erroneous beliefs we unite ourselves with the mortal mind beliefs of others, and consequently become more easily receptive of the sick, sinful, hateful, poverty-stricken, and miserable beliefs of the world; because, according to our scientific professor, everything we see, feel, taste, smell, or hear is the manifestation of human thinking, be it a broken bone, a cancer, a disease germ, a tornado, or a bank failure.

THE HUMAN BODY

By the same token we hold our bodies in our thoughts. The human body is the manifestation of mortal thought, and we outline on that body what we hold in thought, be it good or bad. In fact, the mortal body is the outward manifestation of mortal consciousness, and as our bodies are the delineations of our false reasoning, that, likewise, which affects the body, be it sickness, deformity, weakness, weariness, broken bones, accident, or what not are outlines of mortal beliefs — my mortal beliefs, your mortal beliefs, the world's mortal beliefs for ages. As Mrs. Eddy puts it in her book, "The People's Idea of God" (pp. 10, 11): "We possess our own body, and make it harmonious or discordant according to the images that thought reflects upon it. The emancipation of our bodies from sickness will follow the mind's freedom from sin; and, as St. Paul admonishes, we should be 'waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body.'... The feeblest mind, enlightened and spiritualized, can free its body from disease as well as sin.... Mortals, alias mortal minds, make the laws that govern their bodies, as directly as men pass legislative acts and enact penal codes." Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 419): "Note how thought makes the face pallid. It either retards the circulation or quickens it, causing a pale or flushed cheek. In the same way thought increases or diminishes the secretions, the action of the lungs, of the bowels, and of the heart."

... 15 More for Pennsylvania

FIFTEEN more FWD trucks have just been ordered by the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Fifteen more FWD's are going to haul gravel, crushed stone, sand, filling, etc.; fifteen more FWD's are going to pull drags, maintainers, diggers, scarifiers; fifteen more FWD's are going to hurry back and forth over the bumpy ground of the newly constructed roads while the natives stand astonished at the trucks' agility; and fifteen more FWD's will push the snow aside as it falls upon the highways, or furret out a road through the miles of drifts.

In November 1927, Pennsylvania State purchased thirty-six FWD's. In September 1928, fifty-four more were added. And now fifteen more will join the fleet, making a grand total of 105 new FWD's purchased by this one department inside of two year's time. The department also had 89 ex-army FWD's which have been doing their regular highway work for several years. Accordingly, the fleet now numbers 194.

The performance of the ex-army trucks and the service rendered by the FWD company through the years those trucks have been employed, undoubtedly has been some of the reasons for the annual orders being placed. Likewise the service the new trucks have rendered has served to assure the Highway Department that FWD's are becoming better and better in every way.

Here is evidence of satisfaction, satisfaction which is typical of that experienced by FWD users throughout the world. It does not "just happen" that FWD business for 1929 has increased forty-six per cent over last year and that sixty-six per cent of the orders came from FWD users.

NASH PRESENTS BRAND NEW MODEL

Twin-ignition Straight Eight Is Introduced to Public

Kenosha—A Twin-ignition Straight Eight—the first fine car of its kind in the world—led the imposing presentation of three new "400" Series models for 1930, introduced to the motoring public today by the Nash Motors Company.

Built with the sound experience and broad understanding of modern needs that has made Nash engineering a sterling standard of the American industry, these three entirely new lines of cars, on five wheelbase lengths and in three Nash price fields mark a startling advancement in perfection of design and performance beyond previous accomplishment, and serve to lift moderate priced motoring to its highest level of satisfaction. They appear as another fulfillment of C. W. Nash's unswerving ambition to supply at moderate cost automobiles which possess everything in appearance, performance, comfort and quality offered by the country's most costly cars and to develop finer cars as his thirty-seven years of successful manufacturing roll forward the record of industrial achievement.

"These new series of motor cars, in our opinion, are most worthy to carry forward the name Nash and the name '400,'" he said in commenting on the master work of his famous engineering department. They are in every way worthy to succeed the first '400' of which we think and speak with so much pride—worthy successors to a great success. In every advanced feature, believe that they add something really finer to the efficiency and enjoyment of motoring."

Three complete groups—the Twin-ignition Eight, the "Twin-ignition Six" and the Single Six—are included in this valuable Nash offering. All of the new models are equipped with motors so far advanced as to be considered a forecast of future fine car design, but based on engineering principles proved and enriched by practical service and nation-wide approval. Highest standards of coach building are met by the new and finer, Salon bodies, so carefully designed to each type of car, and of so important but perfectly definite advancements in design and equipment await the critical appraisal of experienced motorists.

Introduction of the Nash Twin-ignition Eight presents the product of more than three years intensive study and experiment by Nash engineers and one which embraces advancements in eight distinct design and performance not obtainable in any other car built today. It is powered by an eight-cylinder, twin-ignition, live-in-head, nine-bearing motor; an integrally counter-balanced, blow-by crankshaft; with aluminum alloy invar-strut pistons and unimium alloy connecting rods capped at the crankshaft end with case hardened steel, a motor that develops 100 horsepower in its 238.6 cubic inches of displacement and matches its amazing power and speed with surprising quietness, smoothness, economy of control and fuel economy.

Nash Eight excels in every respect to peak efficiency through its manifolding and a new "high lift" speed jet that cuts in at 50 miles an hour to maintain maximum economy in the higher ranges. New features of the Eight chassis include: steel jacketed and lifetime-bricated springs individually tailored to the weight of each car; cable-actuated, internal expanding 4-wheel brakes which are self energizing both forward and backward; the world's first, worm and roller steering system; automatic, thermostatically controlled radiator shutters; electrically controlled lubrication systems which automatically oil 21 chassis points including all spring shackles at the press of a convenient foot pedal; sh bottom starting control and numerous other advanced features which are equally impressive.

Other mechanical features of special interest are the sixteen, air-cooled, twin-ignition valves, with twin-ignition coils, 16-point distributor and high gas compression make the ignition system just twice as effective as ordinary systems; the positive fuel pump feed of gas; the dual manifold which distributes the gas mixture as though carburetors were employed one each four cylinders; the six-bearing, silent chain operated camshaft; dively clutch engagement; new positive drive starting motor and road rock insulator on the left front spring, which wards all road jars from the steering wheel. These and other refinements have masterfully coordinated into unparalleled motor performance, riding and handling.

DODGE IS USED IN STREET CAMPAIGN

Carries Safety Devices to Warn People in Buffalo, N. Y.

The last and loudest word in traffic safety devices is the loud speaking New Dodge Brothers Six sedan used by Buffalo, N. Y., police to caution motorists and pedestrians. The safety car, finished in white lacquer, has four loud speakers mounted on top, so that the voice of the law is greatly amplified by radio principles. Traffic officers riding inside may be heard for a city block, and even the cautious driver of a rumbling truck may be addressed directly—and he can't talk back.

The Dodge safety car is aimed to install the principles of safety and caution in both drivers and pedestrians, and its work in Buffalo has been so successful that other cities are considering a similar campaign. The officer on duty speaks into a microphone in his natural voice, and his remarks issue from the four horns in volume sufficient to "tell the world."

In one day's work, the car moved through city streets issuing 200 warnings for double-parking; 400 warnings for defective headlights; 29 warnings for dirty license plates; 15 warnings for blocking cross walks and 14 warnings to speeders. In addition, twelve traffic talks were delivered at congested areas in downtown streets, where thousands of pedestrians could hear.

Except in flagrant cases, warnings and suggestions are given in a friendly, helpful manner with no attempt to embarrass violators. However, considerable effectiveness of the car in dealing with individual violators where the glare of publicity results in the driver being loudly "called down" within the hearing of other drivers and pedestrians.

Some of the suggestions delivered through the loud speakers would make good safety slogans in any city. Here are a few:

"Hello, pedestrians—Cross with green lights only. The driver waits for you. Please wait for him. Courtesy between drivers and pedestrians will save a lot of lives."

"Watch that accelerator, driver. It's the trigger of the deadliest gun ever invented."

"Whoa, speeder. What's your hurry?"

"How are YOUR brakes working?"

"Think, driver, think! The right of way will never return a life or pay a hospital bill."

Police officers who comprise the crew of the Safety car are all pleased with the performance of the New Dodge Brothers Six with its ease of handling, speed and flexibility in moving through traffic.

VIKING ENGINES MUST PASS TESTS

Practice Insures High Requirements of Manufacturers

Tests and inspections which prove quality and performance ability are given every Viking engine before it is placed in a chassis and shipped from the Oldsmobile Viking factories. This method insures that every engine leaving the plant meets the high requirements called for by the engineers and manufacturers.

As each Viking engine leaves the assembly line it is carried on overhead tracks to the test and dynamometer department where expert mechanics check its capabilities. First the engine is placed on a test stand and is driven slowly—at about 200 revolutions per minute—by another engine. This is done to run in the new mechanism which is closely tied to limits as fine as one ten-thousandths of an inch.

After being run in for an hour the engine is started under its own power and it, in turn, runs in another engine. As the two engines are connected through the reverse gear of the engine running under its own power, this latter engine runs at a speed ranging from 500 to 1,000 revolutions per minute.

During this period of its initial operation the engine is carefully inspected by experts. The valves are checked and set to a clearance of eight thousandths of an inch for the intake valves and twelve thousandths of an inch for the exhaust. Oil pressure is checked at various speeds and must show from 15 to 45 pounds depending on the speed of the engine. The carburetor is properly adjusted, the head bolts tightened while the engine is hot and other details checked.

When these inspections have been completed and the engine has been operating an hour under its own power, it is taken to a final inspection stand where experts give it an exhaustive examination. The oil pan is removed and the connecting rods disconnected so that each bearing can be minutely inspected to see that it is perfect after having been subjected to the running test. Crankshaft, fly wheel and other interior parts of the engine have to pass this same rigorous inspection.

When the engine has successfully passed all of these tests and inspection—and not until then—a new oil pan is fitted, new oil put into the crankcase and the approved engine is placed in a Viking chassis.

In addition to this careful check-up, engines are regularly taken from the line and given a dynamometer test. Here they are tested for horsepower development at speeds ranging from 1,000 to 2,000 revolutions per minute and checked for various performance abilities. This test also gives constant proof of the work of the production departments.

PAINTER FAVORS REO FLYING CLOUD

Ardent Sportsman Uses This Model on His Fishing Trips

Lynn Bogue Hunt, widely known as one of America's foremost painters of animals, is naturally enough an ardent sportsman. Recently off Miami, Fla., he had the good fortune to catch a marlin swordfish and a sailfish, while cruising through the Gulf stream. The marlin weighed 58 pounds and the sailfish 42 1-2.

Both were caught with the regulation light tackle; namely, the six-ounce rod and a nine thread line. As this line has a breaking strain of eighteen pounds, the capture of these big fellows meant that Mr. Hunt had to display considerable skill. He used a Von Hofe rod and a reel holding 900 feet of line. Each fish gave about thirty-five or forty minutes hard battle before being landed.

Captain O. L. Schubert, guiding an Elco cruise, was Mr. Hunt's pilot, and in five days of fishing, the party landed a total of nine sailfish and one marlin. On Friday, the 13th, they were particularly lucky, catching five sailfish.

Of course, such fine fish deserved transportation in a fine car. Mr. Hunt's choice in this case unquestionably was an excellent one. The fish are now stuffed and adorn his studio.

Incidentally, the mounting of these is an interesting process. The work was done by Francis West of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Chilmark, Mass. Mr. West has developed a method of mounting the fish over a papier mache' mannikin, following the revolutionary method brought into taxidermy by the late Carl Akeley, the explorer. The mannikin is moulded in a plaster cast which is taken directly from the fish before the skin is removed, thus insuring absolute accuracy in form.

The painting of the finished jobs was done by Mr. Hunt, who produced to a surprising degree the beautiful blues, greens and purples of their scales and sides, as they appear when hauled from their native water. The bright silver color of the fish is obtained by using paint actually made from fish scales which retains the silver lustre permanently.

AMERICA WILL LEAD AVIATION--COFFIN

Makes Predictions at Time Automotive Industry Was in Its Infancy

Howard E. Coffin's prediction, on his return from an extended investigation of the European aeronautical industry, to the effect that America would soon lead the world in the air, has reminded veterans of the industry how Coffin had the laugh on his critics when his prediction, made in the first struggling days of the automotive industry, that the automobile was the coming means of transportation, came true.

At the time, he made his first prophecy, he, with R. B. Jackson, Roy D. Chapin and W. J. McAnaney were building the first Hudson automobile—and it took them all of nine months to complete it. However, Coffin, who had even at that time achieved fame as an engineer above the ordinary, never lost faith, nor did his associates. This year, instead of one car being turned out in nine months, the Hudson Motor Car Company, of which Coffin is still a vice-president, Chapin, Chairman of the Board, and McAnaney, president and general manager, have been turning out 1,900 Hudson and Essex cars daily.

Although Coffin still is an active executive of Hudson, he has devoted much of his time of recent years to the development of the air industry and is associated with many of the most prominent companies. Much of his research work is done

HUMIDITY MAKES RUBBER DIFFERENT

Resistance Varies as Much as 25 Per Cent After Curing

Varying degrees of temperature and humidity during the process of curing rubber may result in differences as great as 25 per cent in the resistance of the cured product to abrasion. This has been ascertained by the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce in a series of experiments.

Four different compounds were subjected to the tests. Tests were made of the resistance of compounds which, before cure, had been subjected to temperatures varying from 59 degrees to 93 degrees Fahrenheit. It will be noted that neither temperature would be an improbable one in some factories or storehouses.

It was found that when subjected to abrasion the rubber compounds had undergone varying degrees of heat and humidity revealed variation as much as 25 per cent away from the compounds which had been kept at uniform degrees.

All these facts, which came from the U. S. Bureau of Standards, are particularly interesting when one thinks of Miller tires. Usually, the only thing to consider is the tire itself and the service it renders.

But we must also remember that the service which a tire gives is dependent on the way it was made, as well as on the road surface and the speed at which it is run.

Now in the Miller factory, probably more care is given to keeping uniform temperatures than in any other plant.

While the compounds are being mixed, the friction of the mixing process (which is usually done on big cylinders which crush the new rubber and the added materials, between them) creates a great deal of friction. As everyone knows, where there is friction, there is heat.

But these cylinders are constantly cooled by lead water flowing through them, from a huge refrigerating plant. Thus the heat of the friction is overcome and the compound retains a uniform temperature.

This same care is taken throughout the manufacture of a tire. There must be a uniformity of temperature as well as a uniformity in the strength of the cords.

All this care in keeping the strength uniform, the temperature uniform, has its bearing when the tire is put to the test on the road. Being compounded and made so carefully, the vulcanizing process leaves the tire uniform throughout—no "soft" spots in the tread, no weak spots in the carcass.

Hence, the abrasion—that is, the friction between the tire and the road surface, gives the right traction and the right kind of non-skid, with the least wear on the tire. It is because of this uniformity and long wearing qualities that the Miller tire is guaranteed to outwear any other tire in the same price class.

Still, a few people in Florida, jealous of the reputation of their state, thought that "abrasive roads" was slanderous. But when roads are smooth and dry, with the abrasion regular, the driving is fine. Such roads were ideal for testing tire wear.

However, when you buy Miller Geared-to-the-Road tires, you may know, from the way they were made and the way they were tested, just why they were guaranteed to outwear any other tire in the same price class.

1,200,000 NEW CHEVROLETS OUT

Accomplishment Three Times Better Than Other Six Manufacturers

Detroit—The Chevrolet Motor company announced here today that more than 1,200,000 of the new six-cylinder Chevrolet cars have been placed on the road since the first of the year.

This achievement accomplished in little over nine months, is three times the best showing of any other manufacturer of six cylinder cars in a calendar year and tops Chevrolet's record total for the entire year of 1928.

It is now certain that six cylinder production will set a world record this year, surpassing for the first time in the history of the industry the output of four-cylinder cars.

This leadership of the sixes will come about chiefly because of Chevrolet's record showing this year. Chevrolet factory officials declare that the dominating reason back of the leadership of the six is the public preference for the advantages which this type of construction affords. They point out too that the influence of great volume production, which has enabled the industry to set six cylinder prices down to the lowest on record and has made it possible for Chevrolet through maximum volume to offer six cylinder performance at a price that formerly brought only a four.

With a new yearly record already assured, Chevrolet factories are continuing on the biggest fall production program ever undertaken by the company. Nine assembly plants and seven large manufacturing plants are facing the busiest final quarter than Chevrolet has ever known.

The heavy fall factory program was made necessary, it was explained, to bring production up to the level of the demand and make possible quicker deliveries to owners.

The Chevrolet is sold and serviced in Appleton by the Satterstrom Chevrolet Co., 511 West College Ave.

BUICK TO SPONSOR CONCERT BY SOUSA

America's Foremost Bandmaster to Broadcast Program Oct. 7

John Philip Sousa, America's foremost bandmaster, will lead his famous group of musicians in the opening program of their fall concert series on the air Monday evening, October 7th, over a nation-wide chain of radio stations associated with the red network of the National Broadcasting company. The program, which starts at 9:30 p. m. eastern standard time and is known as the General Motors Family Party, is to be sponsored by the Buick Motor company.

The hour is not only outstanding in that it opens the fall season of Sousa's band, but also in the fact that it will broadcast in the interest of used cars.

"We are dedicating this radio program to the used car division," says C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor company, "because the motor car buying public comprising one of the greatest markets in the world, has come to know the Buick dealer as a reputable merchandiser of transportation, whether it be in the form of new cars or used. He is in a position to fulfill every used car requirement, regardless of what type of car the purchaser may desire. In a price range he desires to pay. With a reputation for reliability and fair dealing, built up over a long period of years, the Buick-Marquette dealer occupies an enviable position in used car sales."

"The popularity of the new 1930 Buick models has resulted in an influx of good used cars and our dealers therefore are in a position to offer unusual values to those buyers who are seeking in used cars the performance standard, luxury and quality that Buick automobiles afford."

"It is for the million and a half Buick owners and their friends, whether they be driving new or used cars, and the 4,000 dealers across America, that we are pleased to have the opportunity to present John Philip Sousa and his famous band in the first of their fall series of radio programs."

"The continuous accident prevention campaign in the plants of the Oakland Motor Car Company achieved further results last month when the accident frequency rate (the number of lost time accidents per million hours worked) dropped to 5.112 contrasted to 11.11 during the previous month."

TARIFF RATES ARE UP NEXT WEEK FOR VOTE

stangle hold on the domestic market" was made in the senate today by Senator King, Democrat, Utah.

A careful examination of the bill, King said, would convince anyone that from beginning to end it was "aimed against imports whether made by brokers, foreigners or American citizens." Both imports and exports would diminish under the measure, he said, adding that all the tariff would do was to put a merchant marine also would prove abortive.

The Utah senator's attack came at the opening of a three-hour session especially set aside to dispose of all remaining committee amendments to the administrative sections of the measure and clear the way for consideration of the rate schedules.

King said the senate was in the grip of a "menace" and that the measure in the preparation of the Hawley-Smoot bill. This organization of which Joseph R. Grundy is vice president, he added, "threw itself into the breach," against the Borah resolution which would have limited tariff revision to agriculture. In the hope of swelling the profits of American manufacturers through increased industrial rates.

TIFF WITH SHORTBRIDGE

King asserted the "reactionaries" won a notable victory when they put through the amendment drafted by Senator Reed, Republican, Pa., looking to future abandonment of the foreign value method of assessing ad valorem duties and were seeking now to "rivet that victory."

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, had an extensive exchange with King over the definition of "reaction," asking if he (Shortridge) could be termed a reactionary because he stood with Washington, Jefferson and others for adequate tariff protection.

"Am I a reactionary," the California asked, "when I plead for protection of Florida is earnestly as I do for California?"

King said he had not used the term offensively but merely to characterize a group in this country which stood for "stand-pat policies."

Pails, Chairs Resume State Championship Games

Play-O-Graph Portrays Series In Realistic Manner

SECOND BATTLE TO BE STAGED SUNDAY IN MENASHA PARK

Veteran Buster Braun and Fred Nixon Will Be Opposing Pitchers

FOX river valley baseball fans who want a last view of two mighty good ball clubs in action will flock to Menasha Sunday afternoon to watch the second game in the Wisconsin state title series between Neenah-Menasha, champions of the valley league and Sheboygan, champions of the State league.

The two teams are booked for a three games series, the title to go to the team winning two of the three tussles. Sheboygan won the first last Sunday when the Chairs whitewashed the Pails 4 and 0 down at Sheboygan.

Old Buster Braun, who like the proverbial river goes on and on after other pitchers wear their gloves away hurried that shutout victory for the chairs and is booked to perform again Sunday afternoon at Menasha. The veteran seems to improve with age as he is now a week older perhaps he'll be even better than last Sunday when he allowed four hits.

Fred Nixon, who isn't a youngster any more himself and who still has a couple good ball games in his system will pitch for the Pails. He had considerable luck last week against the Chairs, but inability of his mates to connect with Braun's offerings cost the game.

The receiving end of the day's battle will be taken care of by Handler for the Pails and Boss Paul Beyers for the chairs. The latter had the edge last week's game by holding the Pails on bases and running wild himself.

The relief hurlers for the two teams will be Ham Gottschacher for the Chairs and J. Zenski for the Pails. Both are veteran hurlers and if called on for a few innings will more than hold their own. Jerry Powell also can take up the task tossing for the Pails if needed.

Harry Leopold, a veteran in baseball circles will play first for the Pails with Joe Muench at second and George Weisgerber short. Jerry Powell is dated to perform at third.

In the outfield the Pails have Beach, J. Sheleske, and B. Lewandowski all hefty clubbers if they get their batting eye.

The invading Chairs are confident they can put an end to the series Sunday and hope to return home with the series finally at an end. Manager Muench and Leopold of the Pails don't quite see things that way, however, and have been pushing their men hard during the week in an effort to have them keyed up for Sunday's game.

The battle is expected to bring one of the largest baseball crowds to the valley over to Menasha and sports management has been asked to take care of the mob. The usual ticket prices will prevail at the game which is to start at 2:30. One umpire from each league will officiate at the game. The plate umpire Sunday will be from the state league, the base umpire from the valley loop.

THIRSTY CHANGES HIS BADGER LINEUP

Sends Ketelaar to Tackle and Alois Liethan to Guard for Opener

Madison—(P)—An eastern football team is to Randall stadium today for the first time in history as the university of Wisconsin faced Colgate university of Hamilton, N. Y. The game also marked the first inter-sectional game with an eastern eleven for the Badgers since 1899, when they lost to Yale, 6 to 0, at New Haven.

The Colgate squad, 21 strong, arrived in Madison last night after working out at Dyche stadium. Evanston, the home of the North-Western university Wildcats. The entire group was reported ready to play including Macaluso, 200-pound full-back, who has been out to a leg injury.

Wisconsin, second-place winner in the Big Ten last year and rated a strong eleven this fall, went through its final workout Friday afternoon. Coach Glenn Thielthwaite, pessimistic about the game and believing the team that receives the "breaks" will win, put his eleven through a signal drill, dummy scrimmage and a brief kicking practice.

He made a last-minute change in his first team lineup, switching Ketelaar, veteran tackle, from the second eleven to replace Harold Smith, burly sophomore. He also had Liethan, converted from center, guard and Harold Behbock, veteran subback, at his old post instead of Canabach.

The Badgers are in good condition though Tobias, guard, has been suffering from an injured leg and may be out in the contest.

More than 5,000 high school pupils will be guests at the game.

PHILIPPINE FLYWEIGHT JUMPS TO FRONT RANK

San Francisco—(P)—Pablo Dano, former flyweight champion of the Philippines, rested in the front rank of the boxing mites today as the result of a 10-round decision over

Johnny Brown of New York, given conceded to be the uncontroverted superior of that division. The New York superior boxing and cleaner feeling gave him the edge in the first rounds of their bout here last night but Dano had the Newbooy going on in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds. Dano weighed 114 lbs., Brown 114-1-2.

Tennis Court-ship

A touch of romance was added to the Pacific southwest tennis championships at Los Angeles, where "Midge" Gladman and John Van Ryn, internationally famous young tennis stars, were reported engaged. Miss Gladman is a University of Southern California co-ed, and holds the national intercollegiate championship.

Hot Dogs, Pop, Peanuts Soon To Have Great Run

BYNN HARRISON Associated Press Staff Writer CHICAGO—(P)—If all the "hot dogs" to be eaten during the world series at Wrigley field were linked together they would make a chain of sausage from Pinconning, Mich., to Gauley Bridge, West Virginia, via Michigan Central to Toledo and thence onward by divers other roads.

The estimate is approximate. Accuracy in such cases is impossible. The weather will have much to do with it. If the games should go extra innings the chain might even reach as far as Atlanta, Ga. Demand for puppy pastry will be greater if the weather be overcast than if it be shirtless. The dog-in-bun addict is a big problem for dieticians all year around. In the autumn, however, he goes entirely out of bounds.

Advance statistics on pop are still more vague. If all the pop that will be drunk were dumped into Lake Michigan at game time it might or might not make the perch turn a gray.

WRIGLEY FIELD READY FOR FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Park Now Has Seating Capacity of 40,000; Pitchers Still Unnamed

Chicago—(P)—There was virtually nothing to worry about at Wrigley field today until next Tuesday at 1:30, when worrying will start in earnest.

Neither Joe McCarthy, on the threshold of his first world series as manager of the Chicago Cubs, nor Connie Mack, to whom world series are old stories, has viewed with alarm the approaching test. Each has indicated confidence in his ball club and respect for his adversary.

The Cubs had the matter of finishing their National league schedule still to consider; a game today at Wrigley field tomorrow against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Neither contest was causing McCarthy to hold his breath, and yet the Sabbath game had an element of human interest in that the Cubs' pitcher is to be Henry Gramp, getting his first start with the Cubs after having been on the club for three years.

The playing field where the first two games of the October classic will be played is ready. Its seating capacity of about 40,000 has been augmented by construction of extra bleachers that rise above the side walks outside the park. The cost of constructing these seats is said to have been greater than any possible return they may make.

The Cubs, in addition to their Sunday game, will have a workout Monday. The Athletics on the other hand have indicated they will not try out the field until the day of the game.

Each team, barring accidents here and there, will have available the same strength that enabled them to win the championship of their respective league.

The guessers continued as much in the dark as ever as to who would be the starting pitchers. The consensus here was that Perce Malone would get the call for the Cubs and Earnshaw for the Mack.

PACKERS RECEIVE TEST IN GAME WITH CHICAGO CARDINALS

Invaders Romped Over Buffalo Last Weekend; Slater With Them

GREEN BAY—The Chicago Cardinals fresh from victory over the Buffalo Bisons will meet the Green Bay Packers here in a National league football contest Sunday afternoon in the City stadium.

The Cardinals will be recalled as the haughty warriors who once refused to leave their home grounds in the Windy City for games, and who since they have taken to the road have been recognized as a good snappy bunch of footballers capable of giving any team in the league a real tussle.

CARDS ARE STRONG This year the Cards are bringing such stars as "Duke" Slater, the giant negro tackle, the three Rooney brothers, and "Mickey" McDonald who put Duluth on the football map, and Chief Elkins, big raw-boned Indian, famous for his collegiate work with Haskell, Texas and Nebraska, and his professional ball with the Yellowjackets.

The Cards have a great many wise old timers and some flashy youngsters in their lineup, so that the fans next Sunday should see a real football game. The odds are of course with the Packers who have not been scored on in three games including the "championship" tilt with the Chicago Bears.

READY FOR WHISTLE The Packers are in great shape for the contest on Sunday. Each and every one of them turned in a great game against the Bears and they are now at the peak of capability. They are due for a great reception at the park next Sunday, so that the fans are expecting them to score early and often.

The 10,000 seats provided for the Bear game are available for use during the remainder of the season so that everyone should be able to find a comfortable place in the park for the Cardinals contest. The demand for tickets in many distant cities indicates that the taste of professional football that was received by so many visitors last Sunday left them hankering for more. There will be large delegations from cities with in a hundred miles of Green Bay here for the Cardinal contest, and many of them will take back a supply of ducats for the Yellowjacket contest the following Sunday.

HUGHITT TO REBELLE "Tommy" Hughitt of Buffalo, N. Y., former Michigan quarterback, who worked in the Colgate-Wisconsin game at Madison on Saturday as field judge, has been assigned to referee the encounter. Hughitt started his brilliant football career as quarter on the Escanaba, Mich., high school eleven.

BOB ZUPPKE EXPECTED TO UNFOLD NEW GRID FORMATION

CHICAGO—(P)—Bob Zuppke, head coach of the University of Illinois football team, has something new in the way of offense with which to confound Illinois gridiron adversaries, and the university of Kansas will get the first look at it Saturday in the initial game of the Illinois schedule.

Zuppke will not abandon the wing offensive system which served in the drives that brought Big Ten championships in 1927 and 1928, but evolved what he calls the "fade" formation, which he believes will add to the troubles of his opponents. He has no explanation of the formation, other than that it is so named because one backfield man either is fading out of the picture, or easing in, just as the play gets underway. He uses an unbalanced line in loose formation with the backfield maneuver, with the backs lined up behind the short side of the forward wall.

Scouts from the camps of Big Ten teams, the Army and other teams which encounter the Illinois this fall, will watch with interest the unfolding of the new plan.

Work on eight other Big Ten fronts today was reduced to something of a lull, with teams planning to play on Saturday's games. Coach Harry Kipke at Michigan,

Mack Don't Know Starting Hurler

Philadelphia—(P)—Connie Mack has been asked so many times recently who will pitch the first game for the Athletics in the world series he is getting tired answering.

"Well, I can say truthfully," is Mack's invariable reply, "that right now I don't know and I don't think I will know until the series is about to start here's the way I argue it. 'Suppose I tell some one he is to pitch and later on conditions compel me to change my mind. That pitcher starts to worry and wonders what has happened. 'I haven't decided even whether it will be a right-hander or a left-hander. All you questioners can keep right on guessing, but nobody will know who is going in until 15 minutes before the game time.'

Most of the dopests believe Earnshaw, the A's star right-hander, will draw the opening assignment against the Cubs.

EASTERN GRIDDERS BEGIN PLAY TODAY

Little Doubt as to Outcome of Games Featuring Leading Teams

New York—(P)—Generally speaking, eastern collegiate football leaders today had their second and last opportunity of the season of entering a game without particular fear of the outcome.

Today's batch of tune-up contests included only a few of the outcome of which was in doubt but starting with next Saturday victories will come much harder.

In a schedule bereft of real competition centered on the inaugural appearances of Yale, Harvard and Princeton and to a lesser degree of Lafayette, home of many a fine football team under the coaching of Herb McCracken. Yale, meeting Vermont and Harvard, facing P. t. es, had nothing but rumps in prospect but Princeton foresaw some little trouble with Amherst. Lafayette was a heavy favorite over Muhlenberg.

Army, Navy and New York university expected much greater opposition from Gettysburg, William and Mary and West Virginia Wesleyan respectively, than they got from their first opponents last week. Beaten by Springfield in its first start, Brown was out to make amends at the expense of Rhode Island. Cornell rolled up a tremendous score last week but expected a plucky little Niagara eleven to make trouble.

MISSOURI VALLEY TEAMS OPEN SEASON

Kansas Aggies Meet Purdue While U. of Kansas Battles Illinois

Kansas City—(P)—Gridiron guns of the heaviest available calibre will boom all over the Missouri valley and the midwest Saturday as three members of the Big Six journeyed to engage representatives of other conferences.

University of Kansas students let their minds wander today to Urbana, Ill., where the Jayhawk eleven was to work out in preparation for its game tomorrow with Illinois. Twenty-seven players left Lawrence for Urbana.

Kansas Aggie followers likewise cast their thoughts toward the east, where the Aggie Wildcatters will engage Purdue in LaFayette, Ind. Nebraska's Huskies yielded their field to the Southern Methodist gridiron invaders from the southwest.

It was announced that Sloan and "Dutch" Witte, backs, would not play in the opener, but even so S. M. U. was conceded little chance of victory.

Missouri and Oklahoma will remain on the sidelines until next week.

RED WINGS, BLUES RESUME PLAY TODAY

Each Team Has One Victory To Credit in Little World Series

Kansas City—(P)—The Rochester Red Wings, International league champions and the Kansas City Blues, American association pennant winners, will resume their fight in the junior world series at 2 o'clock this afternoon, looking up in the third game of the series. Having already won two hits in two official times at bat, lifting his average two points to .381. He still could nose out Babe Herman for second place, but neither he nor Herman could seriously threaten Frank O'Doul and his mark of .396.

Yesterday was not settled on his starting backfield lineup for the Michigan State college game. The battle between Sinall and Holland for the signal calling job, and a fight between Jack Wheeler and Alvin Dahlem for one halfback post, kept Kipke from naming a starting quartet until Saturday at the latest.

Wisconsin and Indiana, down for unusually tough early season opposition in Colgate and Notre Dame, continued to work at top speed, with improvement of their attack being stressed. Purdue, facing the Kansas Aggies under the direction of Bo McMillan, spent another day on development of its aerial offense, while Iowa and Minnesota sought to improve their defense against the overhead type of attack.

Coch Sam Williamson, who will send his Ohio State eleven against Wittenberg as his first "stature" as a head coach in the Big Ten, except for one line position, had decided on his lineup. Chicago had on team and its reserves in good shape for Beloit, and Coach A. A. Stagg planned to let every member of the squad not getting into the first game, work against Lake Forest in the second half of the doubleheader opener.

Edge In Series Strategy Must Go To Connie Mack

(Note: This is another of the series of comparative stories of the Cubs and Athletics as they shape up for the world's series starting next Thursday.)

BY ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK—(P)—If the tactics of a baseball sage and master craftsman, guiding the play of his youthful talent by the wig-wags of a score card; if strategy, in other words, develops as a vital factor in the forthcoming world's series, the Athletics seem likely to have the advantage of the Cubs.

It may contribute nothing to the advancement of science for "strut" force to triumph yet it is a well known baseball fact that a few solid base hits can overthrow the most cunning strategy. For that reason the clouting Cub circus probably is not worried by the threat of being outsmarted by Connie Mack and a strategic board of sages that numbers Kid Gleason, Eddie Collins and Ira Thomas. The Yankees have given ample proof that the home run represents one of the cleverest methods of offsetting enemy maneuvers. Nevertheless, the A's start with the benefit of Mack's long experience his skillful play-manipulation, in a short series where every move counts, where the slightest tactical mistake may mean the difference between the winner's and loser's end of the pot.

For that matter, the Cubs can do plenty of heavy thinking, or contribute any amount of inside stuff, on their own account with Gen. Joseph McCarthy in command, Col. Jimmy Burke nearby for advice and Maj. Rogers Hornsby on the field to toss his experience in with that of field Capt. Charley Grimm. Yet there is no doubt the master-minding honors of the whole, belong to the A's. McCarthy was a school kid playing the sandlots of Philadelphia, when Connie Mack managed his first championship club in 1902.

MACK IS BEST Even McGraw yields in technique to Mack, who controls the moves of every player with his famous score card, although he has denied the legend that he directs every pitch. No manager so assiduously studies out so carefully remembers the strength and weakness of opposing players as Mack. From the reports of Chief Scout Ira Thomas, who has been trailing the Cubs, the lean leader probably has indexed all offensive and defensive habits of the National league champions.

The pitching strategy is much more complicated for Mack than it is for McCarthy. The A's may defy the Cub murderers row of right-handed batsmen with their star left-hander, Grove, at the outset or they may rely on the big right-handed speedster, Earnshaw, depending on success or failure of the opening engagement. Mack has a southpaw mate for Grove in Rube Walberg or right handed spitballs, tossed by old Jack Quinn, to back up Earnshaw's efforts. As it is all much simpler for McCarthy, who has a logical starter in Pat Malone, the iron man member of an almost exclusively right-handed curving corps. Malone, in fact, can pitch every other game until the series is decided, with Guy Bush and Charley Root to fill in the gaps. This would reduce the Cub pitching strategy to a minimum.

Mack juggles his reserves and batting order as rapidly as he shifts the players on the field. He has already considered some changes and if the A's happen to get off badly it would not be surprising to see the old master make wholesale re-arrangements on short notice. McCarthy will have few problems of this kind, unless such injured regulars as Taylor, English or Grimm meet with further mishaps. General Joe, after all, will depend largely on the strategic base hit.

Three other games were scheduled yesterday. The Giant-Philly fray at Baker bowl was washed permanently from the schedule as the teams already were down for two games, this afternoon, and the Brown-Indian tilt in St. Louis was put over because of rain. It will be part of a double header tomorrow: The Cardinal-Pirate argument at Forbes field was delayed until this afternoon to make a bargain counter attraction.

John McGraw retained his chance to finish second, even though his game with the Phillies went into the discard. As a matter of fact, this slender possibility was strengthened a bit by the cancellation. Before the game was called off, the Giants were confronted with the task of winning four while the Pirates were losing three. The Clan McGraw now has only three contests to win, but of course, the Pirates must lose all their three to help the Polo grounds.

A sweep for the Giants and three reverses for the Pirates would leave the clubs in one of those "virtual ties" with the Blues, leading in games, but McGraw would gain an edge in percentage, the Giants having won one fewer and lost one fewer than his Pittsburgh rivals. The Giants will play only 151 games, but the Pirates will go through 153.

The Cub victory yesterday went to the credit of Charlie Root, who relieved Bob Osborne when the Reds tied the score in the eighth. It was Root's nineteenth triumph. Eppa Rixey went the route for the Red Legs, but became wild in the tenth just before Stephenson and Tolson reached him for singles. Rogers Hornsby got two hits in two official times at bat, lifting his average two points to .381. He still could nose out Babe Herman for second place, but neither he nor Herman could seriously threaten Frank O'Doul and his mark of .396.

FANS WHO CAN'T SEE REAL GAMES INVITED TO Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY

Chicago Games Begin 1:30 Appleton Time; Eastern Games 12:30

PERCE MALONE is pitching for the Cubs. It is the first game of the world series, the second inning.

Ball one. Strike one. Strike two. Ball two.

Malone winds up again and the ball goes toward short. Into left field and is retrieved as Al Simmons dashes around first base toward second beating the peg by an eyelash.

Are you watching the world series on a $5 seat down at Wrigley field? No, sir, just spending a few extra minutes back of the Y. M. C. A. watching the Post-Crescent play-o-graph which again will portray every move made by every player in the world series.

Just as rapidly as the moves are made on Wrigley field one of a score of Associated Press writers will put the information onto telegraph wires and into the Post-Crescent office to be relayed to the score board and realistically portrayed for the hundreds who will watch the games.

The first game of the series will begin at 1:30 Appleton time, a second or two after the first ball is pitched across the plate down at Chicago. The first two battles of the series, one Tuesday, the other Wednesday, will be played in Chicago and Thursday folks can take time off and discuss the events of the past with their weight on the future.

Friday, hostilities will be resumed in Philadelphia and the proceedings will begin on the Play-o-graph at 12:30 Appleton time. Games at Philadelphia will be played Friday and Saturday and Sunday the teams will return to Chicago.

There will be standing and sitting room on the Y. M. C. A. tennis courts for everyone who cares to watch the games. Hundreds of people would just as soon be down at Wrigley field for the games, but because there are not enough seats available they must take the next best thing, seats where they can watch the Post-Crescent score board play the games in a manner as realistic as is possible without actual players.

The game will be played on Oshkosh fair grounds. Sunday's game will begin at 2 o'clock.

The Badgers won their first game of the season last week by beating the Fullam Panthers of Chicago, 3 and 0. The Panthers had been undefeated previous to that time.

Pete Briese and Jake Zussman are two former Lawrence men on the team while Bud Laabs, former Beloit star also is on the squad.

A. A. PLANS TO CUT 1930 PLAYING SEASON

Kansas City—(P)—Conflict of the little world series with the major league championship series has caused American association magnates to decide on a shorter schedule for next year. T. J. Hickey, president of the association, announced he is certain the league will adopt a 134-game schedule in place of the 168-game plan of past years. The season will end about Sept. 17, Hickey said.

GATES WILL MAKE OLD RIVALS RESUME FOOTBALL RELATIONS

Games Between New Opponents Don't Take Hold Like Ancient Rivalries

BY LAWRENCE PERRY Copyright 1929

New York—Speaking of Harvard's rigorous football schedule, the Alumni Bulletin, official graduate organ of the University of Cambridge, makes an admission which, through obvious, is none the less interesting in its contrast.

"The West Point eleven," says the editor, "will come again to Cambridge. This game, as was the case last season, will attract as much attention as the Yale game itself, and a similar statement might be made about the Dartmouth game."

Here is recognized an influence, setting in since the war, which, if it does not mitigate the flavor of time-honored athletic rivalries, at least eases the public mind of a rivalry which must, in the future, diminish the importance of certain games which have long held unique distinction as classic.

Already the Yale-Army game which, until recent years, was played under quiet circumstances at West Point occupies an important place in the minds of Yale and Army. So, the editor adds, quoted freely admits, with the Harvard-Army game.

The Yale-Harvard game these years is played at a time when one or the other, or both, are likely to have been walloped by no more opponents and so the sporting interest is minimized. But the contest with West Point comes at a time when the season lies ahead of all, when hope is high, expectation keen.

And even if Yale and Harvard come up to their classic struggle undefeated the edge and undercurrent of interest is less keen than it used to be only because multiple thrills in the course of a season rob the human mind of ability fully to react to a final sensation.

In former years these games stood out at national classics and the eagerness of a season were bent upon winning them—Yale-Harvard, Yale-Princeton, Princeton-Harvard, Army-Navy, Pennsylvania-Cornell, later came Minnesota-Wisconsin; Wisconsin-Michigan-Chicago; Vanderbilt-Sewanee; Nebraska-Notre Dame and other rivalries which were all-important in the sections in which they were played. Princeton and Harvard and Army and Navy have broken relations and more than one game nowadays stands as a whole-some rival in point of popular interest, and hence race receipts, to the classic contests that still endure.

The trend these days in all toward the arrangement of schedules that will emphasize football's significance as a money earner. This fall, for example, the Harvard eleven, after the first two games will meet every Saturday, a team which, so far as "big game" goes, will have as good a chance of winning as Harvard. And Yale is in a situation practically similar. In the south in the Rockies, the far West and middle West games of importance as great as any that will be played will occur regularly beginning October 19.

Frank O'Doul Has Edge On National League Bat Mark, Fonseca In A. L.

Dusty Cooke and Tony Cuccinello Tie for Honors in Association

NEW YORK—(AP)—With the season all but finished, Frank O'Doul has the batting championship of the National league virtually clinched. Averages issued today and including games of last Wednesday showed O'Doul with an average of .354 for Babe Herman of Brooklyn and .351 for Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs. That meant that, unless O'Doul should show a marked decline in his last three games, Herman and Hornsby could hardly catch him even by hitting safely on one each of their remaining visits to the plate.

The chances of Hornsby to overhaul Herman in the race for second honors were much brighter. Other leading regulars in the Wednesday averages were: Terry, New York .374; Stephenson, Chicago .362; Klein, Philadelphia, and Traynor, Pittsburgh .369; Cuyler, Chicago .356; Hendrick, Brooklyn .352, and Al Waner, Pittsburgh .350.

O'Doul has 248 HITS. O'Doul not only led in batting, but also topped the field in total hits with 248 and apparently was destined to surpass Hornsby's National league record of 250, set in 1922. George Sisler's mark of 257, made in 1920, seemed safe, however, against the drive of the Philadelphia slugger.

Hornsby led in runs scored with 153 and Hack Wilson, also of Chicago, set the pace in runs batted in with 152. Frederick of Brooklyn was out in front with 53 doubles and Lloyd Waner, with 19 triples. Hazen Cuyler had stolen 40 bases to lead in this specialty.

Chuck Klein and Melvin Ott were tied with 42 home runs apiece, and Hornsby and Wilson were tied for third honors, each with 39 circuit blows.

Charlie Root ruled the pitchers with eighteen victories and six defeats for a percentage of .750. Guy Bush, another Chicagoan, was next in line with eighteen and seven for .720, followed by Burleigh Grimes of Pittsburgh with seventeen and seven for .708. Perce Malone of Chicago, the highest winner in the league, was fourth because his twenty-two victories were balanced somewhat by ten defeats, which brought his average down to .688.

Philadelphia led in team batting with .309. Pittsburgh and Chicago were tied for second place with .305, and New York was fourth with .295. The Cubs led in team fielding with .975, and the Giants and the Reds shared second place with identical marks of .974.

American League

Chicago—(AP)—Merely holding his own in the American league batting struggle last week was not sufficient to keep Al Simmons in the lead and Lew Fonseca, Cleveland first baseman, ascended to the peak with an average of .373, according to unofficial figures which include Wednesday's games.

Connie Mack's slugging outfielder played in three games, and was accredited with 10 times at bat. He hit safely twice to maintain his .367 average which lifted him to the top of the league.

Fonseca got into two games and added six points to his mark. The Athletics had but two more games to play, and Fonseca appeared to have the individual title within his grasp. Other regulars following Simmons and Fonseca were: Fox, Philadelphia .356; Manush, St. Louis .354; Lazzeri, New York .353; Fothergill, Detroit .347; Ruth, New York .345; Combs, New York .344; Hellmann, Detroit .344; Alexander, Detroit .342.

RUTH HAS HOMER MARK. Simmons and Babe Ruth each batted in four runs during the week and remained in a tie for the leadership at 150. The Babe failed to produce any home runs, but his total of 46 was 13 ahead of that of Jimmy Fox, his nearest rival. Charlie Gehringer, Detroit infielder, topped the field in three departments. He had scored 123 runs, had stolen 27 bases, and led with 17 three base hits. Heinie Manush of St. Louis, and Roy Johnson of Detroit, were tied for doubles honors each having collected 44.

Detroit improved its collective batting average by one point to .298, and remained in front of the pack. The Yankees added two points went into second position with .296, displacing the Athletics who dropped to fourth, one point behind Cleveland which had an average of .295.

George Earnshaw, Philadelphia's right handed pitcher, ace, boosted his victory collection to 22 by taking one decision, and had lost eight games. Bob Grove was charged with another defeat and his record was 20 victories and six defeats. Eddie Rommel had the highest percentage among pitchers working in a representative number of games, having won 11 while losing two. Tom Zachary's record still was unmarred. The Yankee veteran having triumphed 12 straight times. Grove's streakout record of 161 gave the Athletics another lead.

Philadelphia's fielding average of .976, was good enough to top the St. Louis Browns by two points. The battle for doubleplay honors con-

Meets Mrs. Pressler, Los Angeles, Who Beat Bernice Wall, 3 and 2

DETROIT—(AP)—Glenna Collett, mighty champion of par from Pebble Beach, Calif., today sought to add a new chapter in the history of women's golf in America by capturing her fourth national championship.

The last obstacle in her path was a dangerous veteran from her own adopted state of California, Mrs. Leona Pressler, of Los Angeles, the two being matched against each other in the 36-hole final at Oakland Hills.

Tradition of golf alternately favored and disfavored the comely champion, who stood out as an overwhelming favorite. So sound is her game over a long stretch that like Bobby Jones she was regarded as unbeatable over 36 holes. Against her stood the fact that no woman has been able to take the crown four times. Two others, Mrs. Alex Stirling, of Ottawa, Canada, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, have been trying for years without success to accomplish the feat and this year, as before, they reached the final round in a national championship, although she has won her share of golf titles, including the western championship in 1927 and 1928. This year she was dethroned in that field in the second round at Cleveland by Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago. Since her dethronement, however, she has returned to her game. Marching through the lower championship bracket with victories over Mrs. Gregg Lufur of Los Angeles, 2 up; Marion Turple, of New Orleans, 4 and 2; Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd 3 and 1, and over Bernice Wall of Oshkosh by 3 and 2 in yesterday's semi-finals.

Mrs. Pressler never before has reached the final round in a national championship, although she has won her share of golf titles, including the western championship in 1927 and 1928. St. Paul battled for a team average of .306, with Kansas City, the league flag winner, second with .300. Only one new mark was set, Minneapolis cracking its record for team home runs. They hit 158 homers to improve their 1927 mark of 154. They also led with a total of 1,076 runs, with Kansas City the best defensive club, holding opponents to 766 runs.

CAMPBELL BEST HURLER

Archie Campbell of St. Paul, finished with the best record among regular pitchers. He won 16 games and lost three for a percentage of .833. American Palla, another Saint hurler, was credited with the largest number of triumphs, 22, but dropped nine decisions. Warmouth of Kansas City, won 14 and lost four and Lynn Nelson, another Blue hurler, won 15 and dropped six. John Brillheart, Minneapolis, led in strikeouts with 135. The wildest hurler in the circuit was Bud Parmelee, Toledo's youthful right hander, who walked 153 men, hit 18 batters and turned loose 16 wild pitches for an average of .968 to take the honors, with Toledo second at .967. The Mud Hens, however, finished far in front in double plays, with 203, the second time in the history of the league when more than 200 double killings were accomplished. St. Paul set the record of 213 in 1927. Columbus and St. Paul completed one triple play each. Milwaukee was the weakest fielding club in the league, its final unofficial average being .954.

MARINETTE FOOTBALL STAR BREAKS NOSE

Marinette—Injuries that have weakened many a well-gearred and perfectly primed gridiron machine have hit the Marinette high school camp with the Appleton game but two days off.

Desjardin, star Purple halfback, will be out of the game for the next two weeks with a broken nose, received in practice recently. Freeman, veteran guard, will also be out of Saturday's tilt with a badly bruised knee.

With the two men in the game Marinette's chances would have been a fifty-fifty proposition with Appleton, but without their stock had slumped considerably, with the edge in favor of Appleton.

However, the Purple has a fighting team as evidenced in the game against Manitowoc and Fond du Lac which if prevails in the coming tilt may accomplish a victory despite the disadvantages. Several other candidates are also nursing minor injuries received in the Fondy game last weekend.

Pittsburgh—Ray Kiser, outpointed Joe Gans, Gary, Ind., (10).

Peoria, Ill.—Otto von Porat, Chicago, knocked out Tom Sayers, Detroit (1). Al Kline, Cleveland, and Sam Adduci, Chicago, drew (8).

Appleton, Wisconsin, will be heard and considered the Appeal of A. G. Koch, 420 S. Memorial Drive for the construction of a garage, from the ruling of the Building Inspector in refusing to grant a permit for the construction, alteration, rebuilding or occupancy of a non-conforming building on, or for the use of the property known and described as follows:

All of lot (1) and the south 10 feet of lot (2) all in block (33) Grand Chute plat 3rd Ward, City of Appleton, Wisconsin, which does not conform with Section 15.06 (A) of Chapter XV of the Ordinance.

Notice is further given that the said meeting is open to the public and that the appellant and any other person interested may appear and be heard for or against the granting of aforesaid permit by this Board.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM SMASHES SHAWANO FOR 12 TO 0 WIN

Northern Team Downed on Its Own Field Friday Afternoon

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—New London high school defeated Shawano high school Friday afternoon at Shawano, 12 to 0. The Red and Whites started with a rush, and soon found weaknesses through the center and around the ends. Sackett plunged through the middle while Burton, Brown and Dornbach took turns at hitting the ends. Starting from one end of the field they marched to the other end where Sackett found a hole in his kicking and slid over to the first touchdown.

After the kickoff Shawano started in with a passing game and had fairly good luck, one of their ends being exceptionally good at pulling the ball out of the air. In the second quarter with New London in possession of the ball "Chucky" Pfeiffer made a nice gain while he caught a long pass. The Shawano line bolstered up during this quarter and held New London's backs to small gains. Both teams resorted to punting, more or less, to finish the half.

On the kickoff to New London in the second half, Dornbach, with good interference made a nice run back. New London could not hit the line hard enough, lost the ball on downs and Shawano opened up again with a passing attack. The Red and Whites evidently were well coached in this during the past week, and "Whit" Gorges intercepted one pass and ran 20 yards for the second touchdown. New London again tried a line plunge for the extra punt, but was unsuccessful.

The fourth quarter started with New London kicking off after the touchdown. Shawano took a great spurt in this period and got their passes working successfully. In between times they hit the line for good results and soon had the ball on New London's 2 1/2 yard line. The Red and Whites then came to within a jump and held the ball on downs and again resorted to aerial attack. One of these passes rolled over into the end zone and the ball was carried back to the 20 yard line and "Pete" Westphal got off a long punt to put his team out of danger for the remainder of the game.

The teams were evenly matched in weight. Shawano excelled in the passing game, but New London showed ability to hit the line for good gains. Westphal, who did the punting, came out about even with the Shawano punter. The team showed decided improvement over last week, and the boys have gained plenty of confidence for next week's scrap with their traditional enemy, Menasha. The team was accompanied by the high school band in uniform and a number of student rooters. School began an hour earlier on Friday morning to allow a full schedule of lessons.

BERLIN BANDITS GIVE NEW LONDON WIDE BERTH

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—With stern appearance the city's newly appointed vigilantes stationed themselves at advantageous points Friday afternoon, following the report of a bank robbery in Berlin. Pistols in hand the five good men and true awaited the coming of the bold, bad bandits. The merits of a huge bear trap, which for some time has been on display at the Soda Grill and which is the property of Giles Putnam, were considered and the plausibility of wearing red hunting caps was gone into in detail. Five o'clock and no bandits. Six o'clock and still no exchange of gunfire and since appetites must be pampered and constitutions kept in fighting trim by the consumption of much hearty food the vigilantes called it a day and left the field.

FARMER PREFERS CHICKENS TO HOGS

Profits in Poultry Greater, Ed. Volkman, Route 1, Believes

BY W. F. WINSEY

Black Creek—A neighbor recently asked Ed. Volkman, route 1, who built a start in left chicken coop at year ago, according to the plans of the College of Agriculture, Madison, and since that time has been feeding his flock the Wisconsin egg-laying ration, if he would not like to experiment in raising hogs for the market.

"No, no," was Mr. Volkman's quick reply, "you let me have my flock of chickens, and you take hogs, and I'll beat you as far as profits are concerned, with less trouble than you'll have and with a much cleaner job."

Mr. Volkman started his flock of 135 White Leghorn pullets laying last October and the birds gave him over 50 per cent product from that time to last week when they dropped off to 30 dozen eggs for the week, and are now going into a moult. Last week a stranger in an automobile came into the Volkman yard in compliance with the suggestion of a neighbor of the Volkmans who had no eggs at all, to get a few dozen fresh eggs to take home with him to Chicago. The stranger took only a few dozen but was very much surprised after his failures along the road to find a farmer that had a case of eggs on hand at this time of the year.

Before Mr. Volkman made his

FLEXIBLE TARIFF NO AID TO FARMER, BLAINE DECLARES

Conditions Have Changed Since Commission Began Investigation

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Washington Correspondent of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—The dairy farmer has not benefited one penny as a result of tariff increases granted under the flexible tariff after investigations by the tariff commission, Senator John J. Blaine of Boscombe told the Senate on the eve of the vote on the flexible tariff.

Charging that delays in action on the part of the tariff commission have rendered futile such increases as were made on butter, milk, cream, and Swiss cheese, Senator Blaine said that the commission refused, after 35 months' investigation, to recommend the only tariff increase that would have benefited the Wisconsin dairy farmer—the desired increase in the duty on casein.

Senator Blaine outlined the history of the emergency that arose in the dairy industry in 1924, as a result of which Representative Edward E. Browne of Waupaca, former Representative James Beck, late Representative O. J. Kvale of Minnesota, and one of the largest cooperative creamery associations filed complaints with the tariff commission, asking for a higher duty on butter.

CONDITIONS CHANGED

The commission took two years to report, and by that time conditions had entirely changed. The price of butter to the Wisconsin dairy farmer was lower after the tariff went into effect than before, he said.

After a 35 months' investigation, the tariff on milk and cream was increased 50 per cent, he pointed out, and said:

"The tariff increase on milk and cream did not yield one single dollar of benefit to the man who milks the cows. The entire benefit, if any, went to the milk distributors who milk the farmer—every single dollar. The price of milk and cream to the farmer, as far as I can ascertain from the record, was not reflected back to the man on the farm."

If that action of the commission and the President had any effect at all, it was to increase the cost of milk and cream to the people of the industrial East, Boston and New York and other of the large centers; and I challenge any one to produce a single fact showing that the farmer received any benefits whatever."

Senator Blaine then passed on to the history of Swiss cheese before the tariff commission, and quoted the tariff commission's own reports to show that importation increased and the price of imported Swiss cheese was higher than that of Swiss cheese produced in Wisconsin, after the duty had been raised 50 per cent following a 34 months' investigation.

Production of casein, Senator Blaine said, is an infant industry which promises great benefits to American dairymen, yet the tariff commission took 35 months to investigate, and reported that no increase in the duty was warranted because casein was only a by-product.

CASEIN BIG INDUSTRY

Wisconsin increased its production of casein until it was six times in 1927 what it was in 1925, and casein production has become a real industry of importance to dairymen, creating a market for all their milk," he said.

"As one vitally interested," Senator Blaine concluded, "as a representative of the dairy section of the United States and of every state potentially a dairy state, it seems to me the flexible tariff provision has been a stumbling block to the enactment of proper legislation for the protection of that industry."

Congress could have passed emergency tariff legislation to benefit the dairy industry much more promptly than the tariff commission has acted, he declared.

Picturing Wisconsin's importance as a dairy state, Senator Blaine said:

"My own state is most vitally interested in the industry, for it produces one-tenth of the entire milk produced in the United States. It has one-tenth of all the dairy cows in the United States. It stands third in the production of butter, Minnesota and Iowa exceeding our production."

"Out of the entire 18,000,000 pounds of Swiss cheese produced in America, my state produces nearly 15,000,000 pounds. Therefore it seems entirely appropriate that I should turn my attention to a discussion of the Tariff Commission in its administration of the flexible provision as it affects the dairy industry."

LAWRENCE STUDENTS MEET AT WALKAROUND

The traditional all-college walk-around, which has been closely knit with the history of Lawrence college, was held at Main hall Friday evening. The event was sponsored by a joint committee from the campus Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A., which distributed cardboard scrolls to women entering the east door of the hall and to men entering the west door.

Joining in the center of Main hall, the two files of students congregated about the north entrance, where names and signatures were exchanged and the Junior rock, gracing the north campus, was unveiled. Students then adjourned to the old Alexander gymnasium, to enjoy a "frolic" at which Professor and Mrs. John B. MacHarg acted as chaperones.

A harvest theme was carried out in the decorations at the gymnasium.

COMPLETE HALF OF GLEE CLUB TRY-OUTS

Half of the tryouts for the Lawrence college men's glee club have been completed and it is expected that over 100 men will have tried out for the ensemble before the final selection is made. Dean Carl J. Waterman has conducted the trials and he has announced that rehearsals for the season's work will start Monday, Oct. 7.

RENEW FORENSICS AT LAWRENCE FOR WOMEN

The possibility of renewed activity in women's forensics at Lawrence college depends upon interest displayed next Wednesday, according to A. L. Franke, coach. He has asked all women interested in forensics to report to him before that date. Debate activities for women were suspended last year, but the coach has expressed a desire that the work be renewed.

The question selected for debate by all midwest college women's debate teams is: Resolved, that chain stores are detrimental to public welfare.

Badger Coed "Finds Self" in Cleveland

Her memory a blank and unable to tell her own name, a 21-year-old girl later identified by Cleveland police as Alice F. Walsh of Madison, Wis., walked into police headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, and asked officers to aid her in establishing her identity. A diary in her possession made frequent mention of Elmer Tenhopen of Cleveland, former star center of the University of Wisconsin basketball team, who was graduated last June. Police telephoned a minute description of the girl to University of Wisconsin officials who tentatively identified her as Miss Walsh, who also was graduated last June. A telephone call to the girl's mother in Madison then confirmed the identification. Officers say, as the mother described her clothing and jewelry minutely. Arrangements were made for relatives to come for her. The pictures herewith show the girl, a page from her diary and Tenhopen. The latter is now residing temporarily in New York City.

A feature characteristic of high-priced cars . . . . .

Incorporated in the construction of Oldsmobile's big 62-horsepower engine are many features which have long been considered marks of high quality in automobile power plants.

Piston pins, for example, are pressure lubricated through connecting rods which are rifle-drilled throughout their entire length. Serving as connections between rods and pistons, the pins act constantly as bearing surfaces under great strain. The stress imposed by compression and combustion is enormous, and, to assure smoothness and long life, piston pins must be perfectly lubricated. And the only positive method of lubrication is by direct pressure from the oil pump through crankshaft and connecting rods. According to specifications shown in the July issue of "Motor," only twelve makes of cars, in addition to Oldsmobile

Many other quality features include controlled cooling; engine driven fuel pump; counterbalanced crankshaft; and complete engine protection afforded by oil filter, air cleaner, gasoline strainer, and crankcase ventilation.

These and many other advantages characterize Oldsmobile as a thoroughly fine motor car. Come in today and examine the car. Drive it yourself. Discover to your own satisfaction how much Oldsmobile's fine-car construction contributes to the excellence of Oldsmobile's performance.

THE "CUB" IS LICKED
VERONICA smiled at the amazement which was written in my expression. But amazement could hardly be regarded as unnatural under the circumstances. It was enough that a girl like Veronica should ask me to help her hide an unknown man—Roger Edlin's murderer, for all I knew—but to learn my mother had entered the conspiracy, and without a word to me, was sufficient to shake anyone. "Don't look at it, if you'd swallowed a slug, Mr. Grenofen," said Veronica, with a touch of her old manner. "Very well," I said. "If this is the order, so be it." "Agreed? Then I'm eternally grateful. But there's one other thing: will you walk home with me?" "Would I like a million!" "Yes," I said. "But that's not all. If we should meet anybody on the road will you be very kind and attentive, even affectionate? I hate it like mush—but if I give you the word, will you even paw me about?" "Miss Seabroke?" "I mean it. When I say 'Paw,' you paw me brisk and hearty." The change in Veronica was amazing. Her dejection had gone and her blue eyes blazed with fun. Was it all a huge joke, I wondered—one of Veronica's "monkey-tricks," as Seabroke would have said. I shook myself, shook off the glooms and horrors of the afternoon and the suspicions of the last five minutes, and capered into Veronica's own mood. We set off for home. "Terrible lot of outsiders still left in the world, don't you think?" she asked, apparently apropos of nothing. "Anything-biting you at present?" "Martin Somerfield just missed one last night," said Veronica. "You know—when you were so understanding—of course you don't want to know any more about it?" "Not a word," I declared. "In that case, I'd better tell you. An outsider molested me, and there were reasons why I didn't want a fuss made last night. But, if an outsider molested me again tonight I should be grossly in the middle of the road. But he was young and well dressed in a plus-four suit. I did not recognize his voice when he spoke. His words and tone gave me a sensation of pins and needles in the knuckles. When we were within two yards of him he still stood in the middle of the narrow road, barring the way. "Le, Veronica!" said he. And then I understood that he was not quite sober. Veronica made no answer. I released Veronica's arm and put her gently behind me. Then I took the young man by his collar and anything else I could catch in that region, and fetched him out of the road. He came to rest on his haunches. I fear rather abruptly, against a hillock. The young man recovered his feet and came at me, shouting out: "So you're the little devil's bully, eh? You're a dam' little fool, Veronica, and you'll soon find it out." The rush stopped when he observed that I had placed my right hand under guard of the left. I said: "If you were sober I'd knock your head off at once. I'll do it now if you don't clear. Say another word to Miss Seabroke, and—" But I had to do it before I could announce it, for he yelled: "Hi, Veronica!" I judge by the crack I felt on my knuckles that their impact with the corner between eye and nose must have been momentarily unpleasant for him. But only momentarily. He sank down against the same sand heap in a peaceful sleep. "That'll do him a lot of good," said I to Veronica. "You haven't overdone it, Mr. Grenofen?" "Oh, no! Probably five minutes. I'll see you to Sandpoint and then watch him off the premises." The recollection of the little squeal Veronica had given the night before may have added a pound to the weight of the blow. "The unluckiest cub's lost his title. He's now been licked," said Veronica. "Oh?" said I. "Have I had an introduction to Mr. Fred Fotherbury?" "Yes. He's been a nuisance in London. He interfered yesterday with—well, he's a rank outsider, anyhow. Thanks awfully, Mr. Grenofen." I parted from Veronica at her gate and stroled back towards the spot where the cub went to earth. A hundred yards from Sandpoint I met him walking along the road holding a handkerchief to his nose. He passed me without speaking. I turned and followed him past Seabroke's towards Blackwater, and stood at the bottom of Woodcot Lane till he was out of sight and hearing. With a mind full of puzzlement and a sub-conscious sense of pleasure in the queer little episode, I reached home. It was nearly 11 o'clock. My mother, meeting me in the hall, whispered: "Another visitor—Professor Laxton." "I sat down hard on a chair. "That's awkward, Mother." "Yes, isn't it? Did I tell you I was expecting an old friend of my family, sort of second cousin, tonight?" "No. What's his name?" "Let me see—John, I think. Yes, John Merryweather." Merryweather was my mother's maiden name, and John Merryweather was a bachelor cousin of hers in London. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.) Cousin John Merryweather enters the story in Monday's installment.

JEWS HOLD ALL LAND ON PALESTINE COAST

Jerusalem — (AP) — The recent acquisition of 12,000 acres by the Keren Kayemeth, the Zionist Land Purchasing Fund, has brought virtually the whole of the coast between Haifa and Jaffa into Jewish hands. This purchase was made possible by a contribution of $1,000,000 from the Canadian Zionists. The area includes Arab lands bordering on the southern end of the Jewish colony of Chedera. To the south it joins land owned by an American Jew living in Tel Aviv, and it also touches Nathania, the first Jewish coastal colony, established with the aid of Nathan Straus. Eastward the area will be rounded off by additional 6,000 acres, for which the Keren Kayemeth signed contracts shortly before the anti-Jewish disorders broke out. About half of the newly acquired land is suitable for orange cultivation, a profitable crop in Palestine. The area will be divided into plots and given to colonists in hereditary lease. The Keren Kayemeth does not sell its lands lest they fall back into Arab hands.

DAIRYMEN CALL MASSMEETING TO JOIN ASSOCIATION

Farmers Congratulated on Progress Toward Cooperative Marketing

BY W. F. WINSEY

Kaukauna — Sixty representative dairymen of this vicinity at a meeting held in the Forester hall, Friday night, decided to hold a mass meeting of milk producers and their wives in the municipal building on Monday, Oct. 28, for the purpose of forming a local branch of the state Pure Milk Producers association organized in Shawano last spring.

Before adjournment of the Friday night meeting, blank membership contracts were distributed among the dairymen and a committee of five with Malachi Ryan, a director of the State Pure Milk Producers association is chairman, was appointed. Other members of the committee are William Rohan, route 4, William Daul, route 3, Charles Appleton, and Henry Bruhn, route 5.

Five hundred dairymen and their wives are expected to attend the organization meeting on Oct. 28. In the intervening time, the committee and dairymen present at Friday night meeting will explain the contracts and the purposes of cooperation to the milk producers of Kaukauna and vicinity. With these explanations out of the way, the full time of the next meeting will be devoted to the signing of contracts, election of officers, and an entertainment program. R. J. Ames, vice president and fieldman for Wisconsin for the Pure Milk association accepted an invitation to be present at the organization meeting.

Following a discussion of the advantages to be derived from cooperation of farmers, the Friday night meeting developed into a round table discussion in which all participated. "Wherever I go I find the business men more interested in the farmers' cause and cooperation of farmers than the farmers themselves," declared Mr. Ames who was the principal speaker.

Mr. Ames after tracing the struggles of the milk producers of the Chicago district for a voice in the sale of their product told his audience that the Pure Milk association was not only a local organization but was a unit of a state and national organization with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

While Mr. Ames promised nothing as a result of joining the Pure Milk Producers' association, he said that the first thing being done by the association, after the membership of a local reaches a certain percentage of all the producers in a territory, is to check the weights and tests at the points of milk deliveries.

Other speakers were Malachi Ryan who stated the purposes of the meeting and presided. "I believe, heart and soul in the cooperative solving of their problems by the farmers themselves," said County Agent, Gus Sell.

He congratulated the farmers of Outagamie county in the headway they were making in the cooperative selling of their livestock but said that only one-fourth of the income of farmers comes from livestock and the other three-fourths from the sale of dairy products. Mr. Sell argued that if the cooperative sale of livestock has reduced the cost of handling in the past fifteen years and increased the prices for both members of co-operatives and outsiders that co-operation in the handling of dairy products is of vastly more financial importance than is that of the handling of livestock.

Other speakers were Mayor Sullivan, William Rohan, Charles Appleton and nearly all of the other dairymen present.

A SOURCE OF PLEASURE

A used car purchased right is a source of pleasure. When you start out to buy used transportation consider these things viz:- Is it priced right? Is its past history and present condition given to you in a fair and unbiased manner? Does the firm from which you contemplate buying maintain that high degree of integrity necessary to protect you after the deal is closed?

The old and established firm of Central Motor Car Co., has answered all these questions to the utmost satisfaction of used car buyers.

BULL FINALLY GET CONTROL OF MARKET AND PRICES ADVANCE

Some Recovery Is Made by Most Issues Affected in Recent Bear Session

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(AP)—Strong buying support developed in today's stock market and prices staged a brisk recovery, active issues rising 2 to 10 points while a few high priced specialties soared 12 to nearly 40 points. Trading was in heavy volume, with the ticker showing an average delay of about 15 minutes behind the market.

The sharp rally indicated the completion, at least temporarily, of forced liquidation, which had undermined the market earlier in the week. Weekly merchandise reviews indicated that general business had not been affected by the decline in stock values, and that operations of the basic industries were proceeding in fair value.

Heavy liquidation during the past week also is believed to have released a large volume of funds, assuring easier credit conditions unless there was a sudden revival of speculation for the advance. Call money dropped from 10 to 6 per cent this week. Loans in the "outside market" were available Friday as low as 1-2-2. American tobacco issues were the spectacular features. The B. stock soared nearly 40 points and the A. 28 on the announcement of an increase in cigarette prices. Liggett & Myers issues jumped about 18 points each, and Lorillard Tobacco 7.

Columbian Carbon jumped 20 points. Motor Products 10 and General Electric extended its gain to 9. Al. Byers, American Water Works, Washington Electric, American Machine & Foundry, Delaware & Hudson, United Aircraft, National Biscuit, Electric Auto Lite, American Telephone, Air Reduction, Western Union and Simmons extended their gains to 6 points or more. Score of others sold 2 to 5 points above yesterday's final quotations. Auburn Auto was one of the few outstanding weak spots, breaking 15 points.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,200,000 shares.

BULL INFLUENCE SENDS CONVERTIBLE BONDS UP

New York—(AP)—Stimulated by the advance in stocks, convertibles staged a rally on the bond market today. International Telephone 4 1/2, which had been easier most of the week, rose nearly 8 points from the low for the recent session, which was virtually all of the advance. The "old" issue of the subscription "paid" to speculative issues. Cuba Railroad 7-1/2 and 8s moved upward, but International Cement 5-1/2 and 6s and Botany Mills 6-1/2 and 8s were marked up 2 points.

Scattered trading in United States government securities found prices mostly, LIBERTY BONDS Liberty 3-1/2s, 96.29. Liberty 4th 4-1/2s, 98.6. Liberty 4th 4-1/2s, 98.14. Treasury 4-1/2s, 106.12. Treasury 4s, 102.

CIGARETTE PRICES BOOSTED BY MAKERS

New York—(AP)—Leading American cigarette manufacturers today advanced the wholesale price of the "popular priced" cigarettes 40 cents a thousand, making the new price $6.40 a thousand.

Among the companies making advances were the American Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers and the Reynolds Tobacco company. The announcement resulted in a sudden rise in the stock of the several of the companies on the New York Stock Exchange, American Tobacco "A" and "B" shares advancing 18.00 and 20.00 a share respectively to 130.00 a share; Reynolds Tobacco "B" 6.75 to 59.75, and P. Lorillard 1.75 to 25.72 1/2, within a few minutes after the announcement appeared.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

New York—(AP)—A new Pacific coast chain store system, to be known as the Continental Chain Stores, is being organized by the Tucker-Hunter-Dulin and Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation interests.

The Great Lakes regional advisory board says that the region will require 633,551 freight cars for the last quarter of the year. Actual requirements for the same period last year were 644,032 cars.

Common stockholders of Gimbel Brothers have been offered rights to subscribe to three additional shares of common stock at $25 a share for each five shares held.

WEAKNESS STRIKES MARKET ON SWINE

Week Ends With Prices Lower; No Advances Registered in Any Class

Chicago—(AP)—Hogs finished off the week in a slump, as today's prices continued to show weakness. Early bids for good quality lights weighing 200 lb were at $10.15 but were rejected. There were 4,000 left over from the day before to prevent an easy clearance of the 6,500 expected for today, and no advances were registered in any class. Strictly light 240 to 250 lb lights sold at $10 even in early trade. Packers had 400 direct.

The cattle trade closed where it stood Friday, as there was nothing sold today except the left overs of the weeks receipts. Choice steers were the only class fully to recover its early losses, closing fully steady with a week ago. All other classes are unevenly lower. Feeders and stockers had a bad week, as far as the market was concerned. Many of that class were received and final check-up reveals losses of 25¢ to 50¢ from a week ago. Bulls were sold at the close after a good opening, and lost 25¢.

Practically the entire lamb run of 5,000 was consigned directly to the packers, and nothing was done in open market. This brings the total of direct to 22,000 for the week. Dragging in the dressed lamb trade and ample supplies were equally responsible for the early declines in the fat lamb trade. Only in the last few days have they been able to recover, thanks to orders from eastern buyers. Prices closed only 25¢ lower than a week ago, and ended on the upturn.

BROADER DEMAND CAUSES WHEAT TO ADVANCE IN PRICE

Sharp Upturns in Foreign Markets Causes Strength at Chicago

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
(Associated Press Market Editor)
Chicago—(AP)—Broader export demand for wheat from North America went hand in hand today with higher prices for wheat future deliveries. Sharp upturns in foreign wheat markets, especially in Great Britain and Argentina, counted for the bulk influence and so likewise did recoveries shown by a change in values. North America wheat export business today was estimated at 800,000 bushels, including domestic hard winter wheat and durum. Giving special emphasis to outlook for higher prices on wheat today at Liverpool; and helping to life the wheat market here was announcement that a large of export business in wheat from North America had been done overnight, and that Argentine shippers were asking higher prices. In this connection, notice was likewise taken on a report of 2-3-50 a bushel in today's closing quotations on October delivery of wheat at Buenos Aires.

Corn prices held within a relatively narrow markets but averaging slightly higher. Trade was mainly of a local character. Weather conditions over the corn belt were generally favorable, and the weekly forecast pointed to generally fair skies with temperatures above normal. Oats as well as corn were slightly firmer with scattered selling causing a recession from the best figures. Provisions tended upward chiefly because of commission house buying of lard.

New York, Oct. 4—It has not as yet been necessary to ply whip and spur to keep up the pace of business at the beginning of the last quarter of the year. Business executives, however, are thoroughly prepared to impart this impetus if it proves necessary within the next few weeks.

It is not likely that extreme measures will be necessary, but all of the far sighted company heads have some novelty or unusual development "up their sleeves." They are determined to make 1929 a great year. Their efforts so far have been successful and they are determined that the last quarter will not show a let down.

This tendency is thoroughly illustrated in the steel and automobile trade. The Ford output is maintaining a remarkable standard. General Motors has done the expected in bursting into the radio equipment field. This great corporation is likely to invade other territories in the near future. Aviation is beckoning strongly to General Motors and the return of President Sloan recently after a trip in which he made a thorough investigation of European aviation manufacturing methods and transportation costs has added interest to this speculative possibility.

GOOD OIL PROSPECTS

The oil industry is making strenuous efforts towards reduction of production and this is being reflected in the strength of the crude oil price level, although it has not as yet been thoroughly discounted in the prices of petroleum stocks.

The Christmas card and new year's greeting card printers and manufacturers are cleaning up the last end of a remarkable harvest. The demand from dealers has been extraordinary and the amount expended by the public for cards this year promises to be higher than ever before. Strong competition has been offered in this field by the British engravers and publishers, who have

Built Like a Fine Piano

As long as radio was a machine, it was a job for engineers and mechanics. But now the call is for beauty—radio naturally looks to the artisan!

In the forefront of this trend is Bush & Lane. They have built fine pianos for many years. And it was only natural that when mechanical perfections had been attained and the public demanded a new beauty in their radio sets, Bush & Lane was best able to answer the call. Into the stately cabinets that house the Bush & Lane all-electric perfected chassis, there is poured long years of experience on studio and concert grands.

Because Bush & Lane always made fine pianos, Bush & Lane will always build a fine radio. An instrument of pleasure—an object of beauty—a piece of merchandise that is built with only quality in mind.

A radio for which this store is proud to be known as the exclusive agency for this community.

Naval Problems Ait to Be Considered by President and MacDonald

BAR TECHNICAL DATA

Prime Minister in America to Promote Good Will Between Nations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1929, by Post Pub. Co.)

Washington—Although it might be supposed that a visit between the prime minister of Great Britain and the president of the United States would deal with all classes of questions pending between the two countries, the truth is only major problems will be canvassed.

The mission of Mr. MacDonald is solely one of good will and a desire to promote friendly relations, but such incidental questions of the I'm Alone case will not come into the picture. In fact there will be no talk of the tariff and no discussion of the World War debt. The one is a domestic question and the other is considered by both governments as closed.

It is the broad question of a naval accord and how the United States and Great Britain can lead in the movement for world wide reduction of armament which will occupy the thought of Mr. Hoover and his distinguished visitor.

The American position is this: The United States has agreed to parity as between this country and Great Britain and is prepared to reduce its tonnage of combatant ships to any point which Great Britain feels is necessary to establish in order to maintain parity on the one hand and an adequate defense on the other.

NO TECHNICAL QUESTION
Technical questions will not be discussed by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover. Indeed the British prime minister brought no technical experts with him. Even the question of cruiser tonnage is not to be taken up and that is regarded as a technical question too, and easily soluble in a general armament conference which is to be held in January.

There has been some speculation that the proposed entry of United States into the world court would be a subject for discussion here or that some kind of an alliance or entente would be suggested but all this has been brushed aside as outside that scope of the conversations between Mr. Hoover and the British prime minister.

President Hoover has left it be known that the American people are highly honored by the visit of Mr. MacDonald and that he hopes the result of it will be a better understanding on both sides of the Atlantic so that all problems may be approached with mutual good will.

Underlying the mission, of course, is a passion for world peace and it does not detract in the least from that ambition, according to the highest American officials, to say that peace is vital not merely for the social but the economic welfare of the nation.

CAPITAL NOT NOISE

Mr. MacDonald found Washington not so uproarious in its welcome as that of New York City, but relatively quiet on such occasions is customary here. Even Marshall Joffe, who came here in war time, rode through the streets lined with silent crowds. The people of Washington are not demonstrative but they are pleased nevertheless over the visit of the British prime minister and they are taking it for granted that this is the beginning of exchanged visits between the statesmen of Great Britain and the United States.

Secretary of State Stimson is expected to go abroad to the armament conference and it would not be surprising if the French premier paid a visit to America in the course of the next few months. The old prejudice against sending American officers abroad is disappearing, just as is the hesitancy of continental Europe to send premiers to America to promote good will.

TWO MEN KILLED IN TEXAS GUN BATTLE

Stage Duel in Sheriff's Office After Graft Charge Is Hurlled

Nacogdoches, Texas.—(AP)—A Texas deputy sheriff and a federal prohibition officer were dead today, victims of a gun fight staged in the way of the old west—cut words of warning and then life dependent upon a lightning draw and a hair trigger. The participants—and dead men—were Claude King, deputy sheriff and L. Chance.

King, according to his friends, heard that Chance had accused him of "standing in with the bootleggers." The two met in the office of the deputy sheriff's office yesterday. "I hear you have been saying some pretty hard things about me," said King.

Sheriff Turner warned the men not to argue or fight in his office and might have averted the duel, but a telephone rang in a nearby room and he stepped out to answer it. Shots sounded before he reached the telephone. When he returned he found Chance dead. King, with three bullet wounds, had staggered to his automobile. He was taken to a hospital and an operation was performed in an effort to save his life, but he died several hours after the shooting.

King was an unsuccessful candidate for sheriff last year. Before that he served on the Shreveport, La., police force. Chance was deputy sheriff here before he entered the federal service.

MARSHFIELD MAN IS KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES TO EARTH

Marshfield.—(AP)—A short flight to determine air conditions preparatory to passenger flying ended in death for Max F. Berghammer, 41, a licensed pilot, when his plane crashed from a height of about 1,000 feet.

Berghammer's plane went into a tail spin and crashed near the Marshfield airport. He was killed instantly. The plane, which was alone in the plane when killed, was considered one of the best pilots in the state. He was the co-owner of the Marshfield airport which was established in 1923.

The flyer saw service in the U. S. aviation corps in France during the World War. He is survived by a widow and four children.

Fall Goes To Trial On Bribery Charge

JUDGE DENIES HIS MOTION TO DISMISS CASE

Former Interior Secretary Pleads Not Guilty—Select Jurymen

BULLETIN

Washington.—(AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was selected today to try Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary of bribery charges growing out of the Elk Hills Naval oil reserve lease to Edward L. Doheny.

Washington.—(AP)—Although his attorney had announced Albert B. Fall's health would not permit him to stand trial, the former interior secretary today appeared in court to answer charges of bribery growing out of the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserve lease.

Frank Hogan, Fall's chief counsel, said the former cabinet officer would not ask for a postponement despite his ill health.

Fall was helped to his seat by members of his family and Dr. H. T. Safford, his physician. Members of the family said Dr. Safford had advised the secretary not to appear in court but he had refused to follow his recommendation.

Justice Hitz of the District of Columbia Supreme court, overruled the former interior secretary's motion to dismiss the bribery indictment on the ground it constituted double jeopardy.

Justice Hitz then said to Fall, "I understand you plead not guilty."

The trial judge immediately began filling the jury box from the venire of 26.

FALLS OLD CHARGES
Fall faces charges that he received a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny for the lease to the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserves.

Wilton J. Lambert of Fall's counsel, said his client was chafing under the order not to expose himself until he had fully recovered from the bronchial attack he suffered last week, as he believed the trial, set for today, unless dismissed, would sustain his contention that the $100,000 from Doheny was a loan and not a bribe. Previous illnesses have caused postponement of the trial a number of times.

Long lists of witnesses have been subpoenaed. Counsel have agreed, however, that the appearance of certain witnesses will not be required, as the record of the Fall-Doheny trial will be available.

The testimony of two men, now dead, will be read that of Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, under President Harding, and Edward L. Doheny, Jr., who personally carried the $100,000 from his father to Fall in the celebrated "little black bag."

Mrs. Fall and their two daughters were among the spectators, and Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, who is charged with giving Fall a $100,000 bribe, sat inside the rail.

The termination of the present case will decide whether the oil man will be tried on the same charge as an indictment charging bribery was also returned against him.

The jury box first was filled with 10 men, two men Negroes, and two women, Mrs. Helen S. Chaconas, and Miss Ruby Gensburg.

Owen J. Roberts, of government counsel, outlined the case briefly to the panel.

Two jurors were excused after they had formed an opinion on the case and a third woman, Mrs. Helen M. Jarboe, took her place in the jury box.

Norris Names 5 Senators To Conduct Lobby Probe

Senator Caraway of Arkansas Is Chairman—Blaine Member of Group

Washington.—(AP)—A sub-committee of five headed by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, was named today by Chairman Norris of the senate judiciary committee, to conduct the lobby investigation.

The four other members are Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana; Borah, Idaho; Robinson, Indiana, and Blaine, Wisconsin, Republicans.

Four of the five committee members belong to the Democrats and Republicans' independent group opposed to the pending tariff bill.

Reported lobbying activities in connection with this measure are expected to receive first attention.

Inquiry into these reports undoubtedly would include the work of the senate finance committee which drafted the tariff bill. A number of independent Republicans recently have expressed dissatisfaction over the Republican membership of the committee, contending it has been made up of regular Republicans.

Caraway will call the committee together at once to organize it. Norris recommended it employ counsel and promised to obtain authority for this from the senate.

The Arkansas senator said he favored going first into the activities of those who have been seeking to influence the tariff legislation. He has singled out the Southern Tariff league and Joseph R. Grundy.

New London Bus Kills Young Girl

Dorothy, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Williams, Clintonville, was instantly killed about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon when she was run over by a New London bus driven by Louis Thorenson, Clintonville.

The girl was crossing Main-st. in front of Milbauer's drug store and stepped directly in the path of the approaching bus. The fender struck her and threw her in the path of the big vehicle and a rear wheel passed over her body. Her chest was crushed and doctors said death was instantaneous.

The girl's mother was sitting in an automobile nearby looking helplessly on.

There will be no inquest. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Williams are the only survivors.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon from the home. Burial will be in the Clintonville cemetery.

RACINE COUPLE KILLED IN TRAIN-AUTO CRASH

Racine.—(AP)—A husband and wife were killed Sunday as a fast Milwaukee road train struck their car on a crossing seven miles north of Racine.

Speeding around the end of a passing freight, John Grosinski, 33, drove into the path of a crack flyer. He and his wife, 30, were on their way to Milwaukee for a visit with friends. They recently came here from North Freedom.

Impatiently at the delay caused by the freight train, Grosinski was said to have sent his small car onto the crossing the instant the last car passed. County officials, after an investigation, said he was responsible for the crash.

Engineer James Murphy said there was no opportunity to stop his train or apply the brakes. The car was dragged more than 500 feet along the right of way.

FOUR KILLED AS WING -OF AIRPLANE CRUMPLES

Leona, Tex.—(AP)—A crumpled wing at an altitude of 1,500 feet yesterday plunged to the death of four passengers and three crew members in his plane. Leon Lynch and Allen Powell of Centerville, and Marvin Botter of Teague, were killed with Brooks.

Lieut. Brooks was considered one of the best pilots at Love field, Dallas, having spent more than 5,000 hours aloft.

HIDDEN GUNS UNCOVERED IN PRISON YARD

Take Precautions Against New Escape Attempt by Colorado Convicts

Canon City, Colo.—(AP)—Fear hovered over the Colorado State penitentiary again today, bringing a tense anxiety to the routine of rehabilitation the battle-scarred institution, which only last Friday was in the throes of a bloody mutiny.

Coincident with commitment of a second convict to solitary confinement, officials discovered two revolvers hidden in a coal pile. One official, unnamed, said he was certain five convicts in the prison were armed—that is, they had arms hidden. The officer would not comment on his reason for such a belief.

The Noose today dangled close to three heads as a result of investigation of last week's mutiny, in which 12 lives were lost in battle, by gunshot and by suicide.

Charles Davis was ordered placed in solitary confinement. Soon after this action the two revolvers were found and Leo W. McGenty, 25, Denver gunman, was ordered confined.

Both of these men, Warden F. E. Crawford said, were in possession of weapons when the mutiny in the prison broke out. Identity of the third convict suspected was not made known.

The weapons believed to be still in possession of convicts include a shotgun, a 30-30 rifle and three revolvers. As the officials probed further and deeper into the plot back of one of the bloodiest prison mutinies in the history of the nation, more and more convicts, in procession through the warden's office for questioning.

EXAMINE FELONS

Fifty men have been examined. Out of hatred for others, the fear of "petrol pigeons" or fear of being called "prisoners" sell many and conflicting stories. From all these angles the truth must be sifted. Warden Crawford said many of the convicts were so excited they did not know what had happened. Some may be deliberately lying to incriminate enemies, other officials said.

These discoveries and developments, coupled with a general uneasiness and turmoil within the prison, may serve to give one condemned man a reprieve. Eddie Ives, Denver slayer sentenced to death may win a temporary suspension of sentence until the situation at the prison on quiet and become more settled.

An execution with the atmosphere of the prison surcharged as it is might result in serious consequences, officials believe.

ALLEGES SMUGGLING

Denver.—(AP)—An ex-convict of the Colorado State penitentiary, formerly a Denver business man, told the Rocky Mountain News today, he was willing to expose an alleged "hoax" and dope smuggling ring in the state penitentiary if his witnesses would be guaranteed protection by Gov. W. H. Adams and the state board of corrections.

The News today said this man asserted "it is possible to smuggle a threshing machine into that place. Guns, dope, booze, anything can be had in that pen if a man's got enough money to pay for them."

FIND 4 GUNS CACHED NEAR KANSAS PRISON

EXPLOSION ON SHIP CLAIMS THREE LIVES

Philadelphia.—(AP)—An explosion on board the steamer Zelbeck today, killed three men and injured a number of others.

World Bank Meet Opens In Germany

Baden-Baden, Germany.—(AP)—The conference on establishment of the Bank of International Settlements got under way today with consideration of definite ideas on the statutes of the proposed bank.

The difficulty and delicacy of the task was forcibly brought to the attention of the delegates when concrete proposals came up. Not only had they underestimated the purely technical work that was needed, but in discussing the material available from the committee which had worked over the weekend, they found divergence on various questions.

Among the matters still needing solution were:

(1)—Do the statutes include the charter and by-laws or only the latter?

(2)—Just when does the bank begin to exist?

(3)—Is the text in conformity with the laws of the countries interested?

(4)—In short, into what mould shall the bank be cast?

The bankers here realize that they are creating something that never existed before and hence that they have no precedents upon which to act. Furthermore, they must first learn, as it were, to speak a common language.

"If the mornings rate of progress is any indication," said one delegate, "we will sit here until Christmas, but of course every hour we learn to approach each other mentally closer, enabling acceleration of progress. It is not a question of divergence on fundamentals but on the method of expressing them and translating them into concrete statutes."

Each of the three or four paragraphs adopted today was fully debated and when agreement was reached a drafting committee was appointed.

ROOSEVELT TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR

Becomes Porto Rico's Executive in Mids of Heavy Rainfall

San Juan, Porto Rico.—With his hand resting on the same bible with which his father took oath as president of the United States, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt today swore to uphold the laws of Porto Rico and the constitution of the United States as governor of the island.

The governor arrived an hour late owing to headwinds, and the actual inaugural ceremony took place partly in a heavy downpour of rain.

The colonel continued to speak, saying "We don't mind a little rain, do we?" But the bad weather dampened his ardor to the extent of preventing him from making his speech in both English and Spanish as he had intended. After a paragraph in English, which he repeated in Spanish with apologies for his pronunciation, a great shout came from his hearers.

During the storm, the amplifiers ceased to work, but a large part of the crowd remained until the end.

Mrs. Roosevelt sat nearby while the colonel was speaking. She was unable to dodge the raindrops that came through the palm covering of the platform.

NO POST-SEASON GAME FOR ARMY AND NAVY

Washington.—(AP)—Secretary Good said today that efforts to arrange a post-season football game between West Point and Annapolis for this season had failed.

WOULD MAKE BUYER OF BOOZE GUILTY ALONGSIDE SELLER

Washington.—(AP)—Amendment of the Volstead act to make the purchase of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes prohibited under law was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, the sponsor of the eighteenth amendment.

Senator Sheppard's proposal would make the purchaser equally punishable with the manufacturer of seller of intoxicants. He said the amendment was necessary because of a recent court decision which held that the purchaser was held not liable in connection with an act of transportation.

The Texas said he had been under the impression that the purchaser of liquor for beverage purposes was punishable in connection with an act of transportation but that the decision made it advisable to prohibit definitely purchase by the terms of the Volstead act.

PREMIER SEES STRIFE ENDED BY PEACE PACT

Hoover and Visitor Gratified by Progress Made at Virginia Camp

SPEAKS IN BOTH HOUSES
British Prime Minister Pays Glowing Tribute to Gustav Stresemann

Washington.—(AP)—President Hoover and Premier MacDonald joined today in expressing gratification over progress in discussing questions that might cause Anglo-American friction, and later the British statesman filled the senate chamber with applause with the declaration that the Kellogg-Brand treaty renouncing war would stand out like a monument in history.

The heads of the two great nations expressed their views in a joint statement issued shortly after their return from a weekend at the rustic Hoover fishing camp in the Virginia mountains from which they announced a conference looking to further naval limitations would be called.

Shortly afterwards, the prime minister departed for the capitol. First he was received by the house where he spoke briefly. He then went to the senate. The galleries of both chambers were filled. Foreign ambassadors and other members of the diplomatic corps in their brilliant uniforms vied with fashionably dressed women, including Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gurney, in adding color.

"There can be no more war; it is impossible if we will make the peace pact effective that any arm of our forces, sea, land, or air will make conflict," the stately MacDonald asserted as the senators and those looking on burst into applause.

"We have come together and said what is all this bother about party," he continued. "Party! Take it."

Referring to the naval discussions which are destined ultimately to wind up before the senate in the form of a treaty, MacDonald promised naval parity "heaped up and flowing over."

"Take it without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That was the only condition under which competitive armaments could be stopped, and we could create a public psychology which would pursue the fruitful and successive avenues of peaceful co-operation."

"That is one of the results of this visit. Another result of the visit is that we have come to understand each other."

Again there was applause. As the prime minister spoke he occasionally referred to notes scribbled on several sheets of paper before him. He held his glasses balanced on his left thumb, and took hold of his coat lapels with both hands as he spoke. The senate listened intently.

The British premier paid a glowing tribute to the late Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister of Germany, asserting he was "a quiet, heroic man, standing surrounded by enmity not only abroad but at home, determined to play a perfectly straight game."

After again thanking the senate for his hearty welcome, MacDonald was escorted to the front of the presiding officers' dias by Vice President Curtis amid another outburst of applause.

There the members of the senate filed by to shake the hand of the premier. Upon leaving the capitol he returned to the White House for luncheon with President Hoover.

The prime minister reached the capitol about noon. He proceeded first to the house where he was greeted at the wide stone entrance steps by Chairman Porter of the foreign affairs committee, and Representative Linthicum of Maryland, the ranking Democratic member.

The premier, Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, and the several other British officials who accompanied them were escorted to the speaker's office. Speaker Longworth is absent and Representative Hadley of Washington, was designated as speaker pro tem for the day.

The house chaplain, the Rev. James A. Montgomery, in opening the session, prayed for the world peace and a better understanding between Great Britain and the United States, but all nations.

IN BRIEF SESSION

The house session was brief, adjourning immediately so the premier might be introduced. He was escorted into the chamber by Porter and Linthicum.

Applause greeted his arrival. This swelled in volume as he was presented from the speaker's rostrum by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader.

Addressing his audience as "fellow members of congress," Mr.

Series Games Will Be Shown On Play-o-Graph

Appleton baseball fans who are interested in the world series, and they are hundreds, are invited to gather in the tennis courts back of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon to witness the games as played on the Post-Crescent Play-o-graph—the closest thing to actually sitting at Wrigley Field watching the players take part in baseball's "biggest show on earth."

Because many persons tried to get tickets for the games and failed the crowds which watch the approaching series are expected to be the largest ever. The initial game will begin at 1:30 Appleton time and the first move will be portrayed on the Play-o-Graph a second after it happens in Chicago.

Games will be played in Chicago on Tuesday and Wednesday with Thursday, a day of rest. Friday and Saturday hostilities will be resumed in Philadelphia with Sunday an off day. Monday the teams will wind up their Philadelphia stay and return to Chicago for the remaining games.
